SHAMROCKS FOR ST. PATRICK. Youngsters in city parochial schools today were sporting green outfits, and carrying out several projects in honor of St. Patrick, Ireland's patron saint. Here Mary McGlew, 6, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James A. McGlew of Cambridge Ave., cuts out a giant shamrock to decorate her first grade classroom at St. Mary. Watching approvingly with a picture of St. Patrick tucked under his arm is Stephen Patrick Gilmore, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Gilmore of 901 E. Church St. A highlight of St. Patrick's Day here will be the annual athletic banquet at Marion Catholic High School tonight. Awards for football, basketball and track will be presented to the "Irish" stars.

120,000 Irish Join March in New York City

Sons and Daughters Of Erin Hold Annual Fifth Avenue Parade

By IRISH DONNELLY

NEW YORK (AP) — Free and frisky Irishmen gathered today for the St. Patrick's Day parade.

An estimated 120,000 sons and daughters of Erin assembled in 62 battalions for the Fifth Avenue march in honor of Ireland's patron saint.

The old avenue sported a green traffic stripe.

Police worked all night erecting barriers to restrain an estimated million spectators. The parade was expected to last some five hours.

Harry M. Hynes, a portly, ruddy-faced Irishman attired in high silk hat and tailcoat, was making his debut as producer of one of the oldest, biggest and most splendid annual parades in the United States.

This was the first time in 24 years that the event was not under the guidance of John J. Sheahan, sidelined by illness.

The music of the day from hundreds of bands given places in the parade included such Irish favorites as "Garryowen," "The Wearing of the Green" and "O'Donnell Abu."

Among the musicians was the St. Laurence O'Toole Pipe Band of Dublin, a sight to behold in green kilts with navy blue jackets trimmed in green and white.

The "Fighting 69th," officially the 165th Infantry Regiment of the New York National Guard, had the honor of showing the way along Fifth Avenue for the 108th consecutive year, with its 38-piece band.

Auditor on Spot

Hassle Developing On County Wages

Pay raises granted in the county auditor's office opened the county's financial status to serious questioning Monday afternoon during a two-hour meeting of elected officials and the county commissioners.

In the center of a controversy which has embroiled all Courthouse employes and officials is County Auditor Maurice C. Clements.

THE COMMISSIONERS learned Saturday that on his own, the auditor had granted pay hikes to his office help ranging between $15 and $35 a month. The disclosure spread rapidly and other officials, denied raises for their employes under the 1959 appropriations, demanded a hearing before the commissioners.

Clarence Keil, chairman of the commissioners, said today the board has asked Prosecutor Robert O. Stout to rule on whether money, once appropriated to an office, can be recalled by the county.

The commissioners said the auditor's appropriation apparently was greater than needed for operating the office, exclusive of pay raises.

—:—

COMMISSIONER Howard McCurdy said Mr. Clements asked for no pay raises in his original budget request but that all other officeholders did. All requests for employe raises were turned down by the commissioners on grounds that county operating funds for the year were too slim.

Most courthouse employes have gone without raises for 2½ years.

Mr. Clements declined to comment on the situation this morning.

Commissioner Calvin Retterer said the raises granted in the auditor's office touched off demands by other elected officials for employe raises.

"The rest of the employes seemed willing to go along with no raises until this broke," he said.

Two officials submitted requests for employe pay hikes to the commissioners today.

Judge Edward J. Ruzzo wrote a letter to the commissioners asking a $30 per month raise for all six employes in Juvenile and Probate Court. County Treasurer Marion Hinklin also submitted a request for raises but declined to say how much he was asking.

Judge Ruzzo's application was more a routine formality than anything else. Judges are authorized by state law to increase their employes' salaries up to a maximum established by the Legislature

Dispute Over Schools

Amish Father Testifies In Hearing on Schools

KENTON — A hearing to decide whether two Amish schools in Hardin County should be closed for failure to live up to minimum state requirements went into its second day today.

The action was brought by the Hardin County Board of Education which last November said an investigation indicated the one-room schools teach no graded courses in science, geography, state government, Ohio history and other state required courses.

First witness called today by the prosecution was Alvin Lambright, Amish father who recently sent his eight children to the Ridgeway public school after the county board of education had named him as one of the defendants in its suit seeking to close the two schools.

Mr. Lambright said that after he decided to send his children to the school in order to avoid any more trouble with the law, his church "mited" him.

"The whole group didn't want me anymore," Mr. Lambright related.

Mr. Lambright, a member of the Amish school board, said he wanted to comply at least partially with the state standards, but after he withdrew his children from the church school he no longer took part in group activities of the church.

He said the rest of the congregation only says "Hello" to him now, but won't speak in any other way.

Mr. Lambright broke down while on the stand and had difficulty testifying. He was dismissed by Judge Arthur Tudor after giving his testimony.

The second witness of the morning was Henry Hershberger of Wayne County, the head of the state Amish school board.

DiSalle Puts Tax Bite on Race Tracks

Wide Policy Revision Would Up Franchise, Abolish Commission

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio legislators have known for weeks that Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has somewhat less than a high opinion of horse-racing in Ohio. But, they asked today, does he really want a czar to control the operations?

The lawmakers, who returned to the legislative halls Monday night, had good reason to ask the question. DiSalle floated it out into the supercharged political atmosphere as a trial balloon—and he admitted it to newsmen.

"I'd rather surprise the legislative leaders than shock them," he commented with a grin.

Not Certain as Yet

The governor said he hasn't made up his mind yet whether to send a special message to the Legislature asking a full-time racing commissioner, to be paid about $14,000 a year, to replace the present four-man racing commission. The commission, he said, could be replaced by a six-member, unpaid advisory board.

The Legislature has not yet reached a full head of steam as it starts to plow its way through 1,589 bills.

The Senate Monday night passed and sent to the House a bill to extend to radio and television broadcasters the same immunity from disclosing news sources as had applied for years to newspaper and wire service reporters. The vote was 26-0.

Sponsors of Bill

The measure was sponsored by Sens. Ray T. Miller Jr. (D-Cuyahoga) and Stephen R. Olenick (D-Mahoning).

In his press conference dealing with the racing commission, DiSalle suggested a racing commissioner might be appointed for a term as long as 10 years.

One of the key points was DiSalle's suggestion that running horse tracks be required to pay a $1,000 franchise tax for every day they operate. They now pay a $10 tax for every meeting regardless of its length. Harness tracks, under his tentative proposal would pay $500 a day.

The increase in the franchise tax would produce only about $400,000 a year, it was estimated, in addition to the 3-million-dollar jump in other taxes the governor has proposed for race tracks. Tracks now pay about 7½ million dollars a year in taxes.

Change in Allocation

Another major change he proposed was an allocation of racing dates on a basis of population within a metropolitan area. Most tracks granted racing dates by the present commission are awarded 44 days.

The governor suggested dates might be awarded on the basis of 30 days for each 500,000 population in the area. He said this might include some overlapping where running and harness tracks might operate day and night within a 50-mile radius.

"The number of days," DiSalle explained, "could be divided among the number of qualified track operators."

U.S. 'Won't Retreat One Inch'

Ike's Strong Berlin Stand Draws Praise in Congress

IKE ADDRESSES NATION. President Eisenhower is shown addressing the nation over radio and TV from the White House Monday on the Berlin situation. He indicated during his talk that he would negotiate with Russia at a summit conference on the Berlin crisis. (UPI Telephoto)

Both Parties Back Pledge Of President

Door to Summit Talk Is Cautiously Opened In Address to Nation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressmen of both parties today supported President Eisenhower's renewed vow that "we will not retreat one inch from our duty" in Berlin.

But some Democrats questioned his assertion that the United States now has an adequate and effective military establishment able to deter aggression.

Opens Door to Summit

In his radio-TV broadcast Monday night, the President cautiously opened the door to a summertime summit meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev—provided foreign ministers somehow lay the advance groundwork.

Immediate congressional reaction, however, centered on his pledge that the United States would fight rather than yield to the Soviet demand that Allied troops leave West Berlin.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn D-Tex) said: "I listened intently to the President's speech. I trust that his judgment of the situation is correct."

The reaction of House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana was typical of Republicans. "The President's speech demonstrates his full realization of the situation and the kind of leadership we need."

Doubts Relative Strength

Rep. A. S. J. Carnahan of Missouri, a Democratic critic of the President's statements on United States defense, said: "To hear the President say we are in pretty good shape militarily is, of course, reassuring, but I have some doubt as to whether we are in as strong a position as we should be."

"We can not try to purchase peace by forsaking two million free people of Berlin," the President told the nation.

He charged the Soviet Union has "deliberately created a war threat to enforce its Berlin demands, and indicated appeasement would be worse than useless.

"War would become more likely if we gave way and encouraged a rule of terrorism rather than a rule of law and order," he said. "Indeed this is the peace policy which we are striving to carry out throughout the world."

On the other hand, he said, "The risk of war is minimized if we stand firm."

Whatever comes, he said, the American people "now have and will continue to have a modern,

Middle East Fight Out in Open

Nasser Trades Bitter Blasts With Khrushchev Over Iraq

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—The fight between Gamal Abdel Nasser and Nikita Khrushchev was out in the open today after a bitter exchange of words in the struggle for control of Iraq.

The Soviet premier and the president of the United Arab Republic for the first time pulled off the wraps and accused each other of fomenting trouble in the Middle East.

Khrushchev accused Nasser of stirring up trouble in Iraq in an attempt to overthrow the Communist-influenced regime of Premier Abdel Karim Kassem.

Takes Kassem's Side

He proclaimed the Soviet Union on the side of Kassem and warned Nasser that his new policy of attacking communism was "doomed to failure."

Granting a 550-million - ruble ($137,500,000) loan to Iraq in Moscow, Khrushchev told the representatives of the Kassem regime: "You have selfless and reliable friends who, are ready to come to your aid any time you are in trouble."

A bitter retort came from Nasser, who until then had confined his attacks on Communists to Arab Reds and had carefully refrained from mentioning Moscow.

Challenge to Arabs

"We do not interfere in the internal affairs of the Soviet Union or support a faction of it against another faction," replied Nasser in a statement distributed by his semi-official Middle East News Agency. "Mr. Khrushchev's support of communism in our country is a challenge to the Arab peoples' will."

Khrushchev and Nasser had clasped hands in hailing the July 14 revolt in Iraq that brought Kassem to power with the assassination of King Faisal and his pro-Western Premier Nuri Said. They joined in proclaiming the revolution a blow at the West.

The strain between Khrushchev and Nasser is the result of the abortive revolt in Iraq last week of army officers sympathetic to Nassers goal of pan-Arab unity. Kassems government in Baghdad coming more and more under the influence of the Iraqi Communists, accused Nasser of fomenting the rebellion. Nasser in turn has mounted a steadily rising campaign against Kassem and his Red supporters.

Khrushchev in Moscow accused Nasser of trying to force Iraq to join the United Arab Republic.

Nasser called this charge a "distortion of fact because we have always announced that our path is Arab solidarity, and in order to achieve this there must be unanimous Arab approval."

Ex-Bootlegger Victim of Gang Styled Killing

CHICAGO (AP)—Hyman (Heinie) Wainer, a prohibition era bootlegger who survived gangland shootings and who also escaped death in a bomb blast a year ago, was slain Monday night — in a gangland style shooting.

Wainer, 54, an ex-convict and liquor store operator, was shot four times in a parking lot at the rear of 3270 Lake Shore Drive, a plush North Side apartment building.

Police said an unidentified neighbor reported a man about 35 years old ran from the lot after Wainer was felled. Two bullets penetrated Wainer's chest from the back. He also was shot in the right arm and right shoulder.

Wainer staggered into the apartment building and was taken to the 10th floor apartment of Miss Evelyn Goodman, a secretary in his liquor store. Miss Goodman, who called police, said Wainer had been living in her apartment for three years.

Toll Collectors' Strike Snarls Up Jersey Pike

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) —Toll collectors and maintenance workers walked off their jobs on the New Jersey Turnpike today in a labor dispute.

Traffic backed up at exits of the 118-mile superhighway as supervisory and office help tried to cope with the toll-collecting tasks.

The dispute arose in part over whether employes had the right to wear union buttons on their uniforms.

Guest at White House

Ireland's Sean O'Kelly, Ike Exchange Greetings

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Sean Thomas O'Kelly of Ireland will be receiving a bit of a surprise this St. Patrick's Day and be after giving one of his own, he will.

From President Eisenhower himself O'Kelly will be getting, 'twas reported, the news that the White House was designed by a son of Dublin, James Doban by name.

The White House staff has been researching it, they say, and it will be dropped, as casual as a Donegal air, o' today's Eisenhower-O'Kelly palaver at the summit.

Will Be Fine News

And fine news it will be to the first Irish president ever to visit the new sod. O'Kelly let it be known on arrival at New York Monday. He felt right at home.

There's a grand parade, from the airport to Hoban's White House, with Irishmen of all nationalities marching and cheering, and there's also a fine sign, three stories overhead, written in Gaelic.

"Cead mile failte," the sign says. "One hundred thousand welcomes."

As to Hoban, he walked off with the prize for the best looking White House design. He pocketed $500 and, in the 1790s, that wasn't Killarney dew.

Has Surprise Also

But Sean O'Kelly has a surprise, too. According to an old Irish source, the most reliable kind, he will scatter shamrocks on the grave of George Washington Parke Custis in Arlington National Cemetery.

Custis, the son of the stepson of America's first president, was a Protestant of English descent. But never was a man so fond of the Irish or the Irish cause. No man of his time in Arlington, Va., could forget the sights of Custis

Crawford Suits Seek $150,000 After Fatality

2 Couples Met Death In Crash; Petitions Say Driver at Fault

BUCYRUS — An auto collision, which took the lives of four Bucyrians last October, has resulted in two actions for money being filed in Crawford County Common Pleas Court here in which judgments, totaling $150,000, are sought.

Defendant in the actions is Ronald N. Byers Jr., of near Bucyrus, as administrator of the estate of Mr. and Mrs. William Clegg, who were killed in the crash near Crestline.

Mrs. Helen E. Steiger of Bucyrus, as administrator of the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shingledecker, also killed, seeks separate judgments of $100,000 and $50,000 in behalf of the Shingledecker estate to set up funds for three Shingledecker children, Constance, 15, Susan, 11, and Peggy, 8.

The plaintiff charges that Clegg was driving the car at the time of the accident at about 100 miles an hour and was driving only with his left hand as his right hand was broken and encased in a splint and dressing.

Mrs. Shingledecker and the Cleggs were killed instantly and Mr. Shingledecker died five days later. The Cleggs and Shingledeckers were returning from a wedding anniversary for another couple when the Clegg car failed to negotiate a curve and crashed into a large tree.

SAMUEL

"And the child Samuel ministered unto the Lord before Eli."

—I Samuel 3:1

Like many of God's prepared messengers and prophets, the child Samuel was born of faith. His mother Hannah had prayed long for a son, and had promised God that her child would serve Him.

When the boy was very young, his mother took him to Eli, the priest. "For this child I prayed; and the Lord hath given me my petition which I asked of Him."

In fulfillment of her own promise, she went on, she had brought Samuel back to the Temple at Shiloh, where she had prayed for him. "As long as he liveth, he shall be lent to the Lord."

So Samuel remained under the care of Eli the priest. He did many chores such as dusting the chests where the scrolls of prayer were kept, polishing the trumpets that were used to proclaim festivals, and carrying oil for the temple lamps.

Eli had two sons of his own, but they were lazy and indifferent and preferred to roam the streets with companions their age.

One night after his tasks were finished, the boy Samuel—who was then about seven years old—lay down on his pallet to sleep. Through a latticework he could see the flickering light of the lamp of God, burning before the ark in the tabernacle. Drowsily he watched the dancing shadows, as he said a final goodnight prayer.

Suddenly he heard his name being called. Quickly he got up, thinking that Eli has summoned him. He ran into the priest's chamber. "Here am I," he said. "Did you call me?"

But Eli shook his head. "I called not. Lie down again."

Samuel, a little puzzled, returned to his bed. Soon he heard his name again. Certainly Eli was calling him.

But when he went in to the priest, Eli again said, "I called not, my son: Lie down again."

Again Samuel returned to his pallet, thinking that because of Eli's age, he may have called in his sleep. For "Samuel did not yet know the Lord, neither was the word of the Lord yet revealed to him."

When he heard the call a third time, he went in to Eli and said firmly: "Here am I; for you did call me."

Eli knew then that it was God who called. He told Samuel to lie down again. This the boy did, and when he heard his name, answered: "Speak, Lord, for thy servant heareth."

And God spoke to him, telling him of events to come.

Samuel lay awake until morning, pondering the things that had been revealed to him. Then he arose and "opened the doors of the house of the Lord."

Yale Students In Snow Battle Reprimanded

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Yale Universitys student body was under indefinite probation today with a warning from school officials that any public misbehavior — such as the weekend snowball melees—would bring immediate expulsion.

Three deans issued the order Monday. It placed the city of New Haven off-limits to any campus social functions. However, except dormitories, there was no ban on any on-campus social functions. Yale is located in the center of the city.

University President A. Whitney Griswold said a study group of New Haven and school officials would be formed to prevent further outbreaks. Griswold made the announcement after meeting with Mayor Richard C. Lee, who once headed Yales news bureau.

Yale has about 3,900 undergraduates. Forty-one were arrested during last weeks trouble, which began with a heavy snowfall Thursday. The snow forced cars to a crawl along the streets between the campus and the city green. Students took the opportunity to bombard the cars with snowballs, and did the same to police when they showed up. Police arrested 24 of them.

On Saturday students again threw snowballs, this time at the rear guard of a St. Patricks Day parade. About 1,000 students gathered on a street that cuts through the campus as police approached. One hundred policemen, armed with night sticks and backed by firehoses, drove the students inside the gates of a residential college. That time 16 students were arrested.

Another student was arrested Monday in a separate incident. A policeman claimed the student shouted an obscenity at him.

Morrow Electric Unit To Grant Two $200 Scholarships

MOUNT GILEAD — The Morrow Electric Co-operative last week announced plans for its annual scholarship awards.

On the basis of scholarship, leadership activities, and personal achievements the co-operative this year will again award two $200 scholarships. Available to high school seniors from the eleven schools in the area served by the co-operative, one award will go to the outstanding boy and one to the outstanding girl.

Nomination forms are now in the hands of school officials at Mount Gilead, Iberia, Chesterville, Sparta, Cardington, Ashley, Marengo, Edison, Johnsville, Lexington and Fredericktown. Each school can nominate one boy and one girl and the winners will be announced May 15.

Later in the year the two local scholarship winners will compete for $500 scholarships to be awarded by Ohio Rural Electric Co-operatives, Inc., at Columbus.

Last year scholarship winners were Alice Rinehart from the Chesterville School, and Paul Bailey from the Edison School. Alice is now enrolled at Kent State University and Paul is a student at Ohio State University, Marion branch.

Return to Jobs

CLEVELAND (AP) — The 300 Steelworkers Union members who walked off their jobs at Valley Mould & Iron Corp. Thursday were back at work today. The strikers returned in compliance with requests from union leaders, who are taking the strikers' grievance through normal channels. The strike had been in protest against the firing of an employe involved in a dispute with a foreman.

'Taken' by Confidence Men

Indiana Mayor Admits Reported Attack Phony

GREENSBURG, Ind. (AP) — Mayor Sheldon Smith of Greensburg shamefully admitted Monday night he slashed himself with a razor, then invented a story about being cut and robbed by three men.

The 39-year-old mayor said he made up the story "to explain the loss of the money and hide the shame of being taken through one of the oldest confidence games, the pigeon drop." The missing $7,178 belonged to the city.

When asked for details of the slashing and confidence game, Mayor Smith said, "I'm too ashamed to talk about it."

In the pigeon drop, a confidence man tells his victim he has found a large amount of money and will share it if the victim will put up up some money as a show of good faith.

Prosecutor Richard Garvey said the mayor's admission ended the case. He said Smith would not be prosecuted.

Earlier Monday Smith returned the $7,178 and said "moral responsibility" led him to borrow money to repay the city court funds.

Smith, who also serves as city judge, had accumulated the money since 1957, but had not deposited it. The exact amount was determined in an audit by the state board of accounts.

Garvey said Smith told him he became "so concerned that an innocent person was suffering the loss of freedom that he decided to unveil the mystery." Smith had identified Forest Hollars, 40, Dayton, Ohio, as one of the three men who attacked him.

Smith's original story was that he had been lured to his private office the night of Feb. 21 on the pretext of filling out an income tax return. He said two of the men held him while the other methodically slashed him with a razor blade.

Neighbors in Hill Country Pay Last Respects to John Salling

GATE CITY, Va. (AP)—The hill country neighbors who loved him and an army for which he never fought began paying final homage today to John Salling, the next-to-last of the boys in gray.

Salling, 112, died Monday in nearby Kingsport, Tenn., after a short illness. His passing left another confederate, Walter Williams, 116, of Houston, Tex., the only surviving Civil War veteran.

Salling never saw combat. He never rose above the rank of private in "General Lee's army," with which he proudly identified himself. But he will go to his grave in the full dress uniform of a Confederate general and with full military honors from the Army of the United States.

Today, Wednesday and most of Thursday morning, the body of the frail old rebel will lie in state in a shining copper casket in the National Guard Armory here, while a 2nd Army honor guard stands watch.

Thousands are expected to file by the casket, draped with a Confederate flag.

At 11:30 a.m. Thursday, an Army chaplin will conduct funeral rites at the 1,000-seat armory, then, under military escort, the body will be taken to the Salling family cemetery in Slant, Va., 12 miles away, for burial.

Strauss To Battle For Confirmation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lewis L. Strauss starts today his battle for confirmation as secretary of commerce.

He faced determined opposition as he was called to testify before the Senate Commerce Committee. But there were indications his opponents will not be heard until after the Easter recess starting March 26.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), Strauss' most outspoken foe, calls Strauss the "chief promoter, defender and advocate" of the controversial Dixon-Yates power contract which Kefauver fought bitterly.

Committee Chairman Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash) said that any fireworks over that issue will be put off until the committee has questioned Strauss thoroughly about commerce department policies.

Leaders of PTA Visit Legislature

Mrs. Donald B. Hunter, president of the Marion City PTA Council joined council presidents throughout Ohio in a two-day session last week to observe the Ohio Legislature in action at Columbus.

The processes of lawmaking were studied and PTA officials attended hearings on bills affecting education.

Representing the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers, the assemblage of PTA council presidents endorsed repeal of the motor-scooter law now in effect.

The legislature currently is considering amending the scooter law which permits students to operate the vehicles when as young as 14 years old. The Ohio Congress favors moving the age requirement up to 16.

A dinner meeting of PTA presidents and state officers was addressed by E. E. Holt, state superintendent of public instruction and former superintendent of Marion public schools.

Kiwanians To Meet

The Marion Kiwanis Club will be host for the 11th Division Council meeting Wednesday, March 18, at 6:30 p.m. in the Hotel Harding ballroom.

Program chairman G. G. Nuetzel will present Ed J. Wills speaking on inter-club work for the men's meeting. A talk on his trip to Alaska will be given by Tom Petrie for the women's program.

State Checks Nicholas Trial Jurors Closely

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — What penalty the state will seek against Mrs. Connie Nicholas for the slaying of her married lover outside the apartment of his younger woman friend still was a mystery today.

The state challenged and removed three prospective jurors on the opening day of Mrs. Nicholas first-degree murder trial Monday when they said they couldn't vote for the death penalty.

But Dep. Prosecutor Judson F. Haggerty told a newsman the action didn't necessarily indicate the prosecution would press for the supreme penalty for the 42-year-old, twice-divorced secretary.

She is charged with the fatal shooting of Forrest Teel, 54, in his white Cadillac outside the apartment of Miss Laura Mowrer last July 31.

She was pale from her long stay in a hospital recovering from an overdose of sleeping pills she took in a suicide attempt after the shooting.

Teel was executive vice president of Eli Lilly & Co., big Indianapolis pharmaceutical manufacturing firm.

The state is expected to attempt to prove that Mrs. Nicholas bought the small revolver with which Teel was shot with the intention of killing him. She has said she bought the gun for protection on a planned trip to California, and that she shot in self defense when Teel struck her.

$1,000 Blaze Hits LaRue Area Home

Fire Monday morning did an estimated $1,000 damage to the kitchen and washroom of a rural home north of LaRue, Harold Surber, chief of the LaRue Fire Department, reported today.

The fire took place in the home of J. Lewis Hafer about one and one-half miles north of LaRue on the Wildcat Pk.

According to Mr. Surber, the fire started near an oil heater. It burned out the wall in the washroom and scorched the walls of the kitchen. Firemen battled the fire for about an hour before completely dousing it.

Paying Your Income Tax

Choice of Correct Form Is Important

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Which form to use in making your 1958 income tax return: The small punchcard 1040A or the longer, four-page 1040?

Most people, because they fit the requirements and it's easy, will use 1040A. Some of them, for special reasons, will prefer 1040. The rest must use 1040.

Second of a Series

Remember: A very important change since last year permits more people to use 1040A.

Last year only those with less than $5,000 income could use it. This year people with up to $10,000 income can use 1040A.

—:—

YOU CAN USE 1040A only if you fit this rule:

If your income was under $10,000 and tax was withheld from all of it except for no more than $200 in interest, dividends or wages. If that doesn't apply to you, you must use 1040.

Things to keep in mind before deciding to use 1040A:

If you use it, you must take the standard deduction of about 10 per cent for all personal expenses which are deductible like interest on the house mortgage, state taxes, charitable contributions, and so on.

Anyone with such deductions greater than 10 per cent of his income will usually lose money using 1040A. Instead, use 1040 where, although you'll have to itemize your deductions in order to claim them, you can claim all you're entitled to.

THERE ARE CERTAIN ways of reducing your tax by using 1040 that you can't use if you file your return on 1040A. For instance:

You can't on 1040A (but can on 1040) deduct for sick pay paid by your employer. Nor can you on 1040A claim to be head of a household, a special status which gives you a smaller tax than you could obtain filing as a single person.

You can't on 1040A (but can on 1040) claim credit for retirement pay. You can't use 1040A at all if during 1958 you paid an estimated tax on your income.

Everyone who got dividends on stock of most domestic corporations can knock off the first $50 of them. You can do that on both

In preparing your federal income tax return, you may have the option—depending on your income—of which form to use. But it's important that you pick the right one.

1040 and 1040A. On 1040 you work out the $50 deduction on page 3, schedule A.

On 1040A you simply write in the amount of dividend payment you have left after subtracting $50, but — there's another break on dividends that you can get on 1040 but can't on 1040A.

This is it:

After you've deducted the first $50 of your dividends you can deduct from your tax four per cent of the value of the dividends above the first $50. There are places for doing that on 1040. There's no place for it on 1040A.

—:—

THIS YEAR the Internal Revenue Service is particularly checking on expense accounts. On both 1040A and 1040 you're asked if you charged business expenses to your employer and whether he paid you for them.

If you got back from him all you paid out of your pocket for expenses, and no more, that's all. But if your expenses were less than the boss paid you for them, the difference is income and must be reported as part of your income.

You have to report that difference as part of your income as "excess reimbursements" on line five, page one of 1040. You can't do this on 1040A. Therefore, in this case you couldn't use 1040A.

Despite 1040A's small size, a husband and wife can file a joint return on it, even though the wife had no income or, if she did, if their combined income was under $10,000 and they fit the requirements given above for using 1040A.

Also on 1040A you can claim your exemptions.

If you use 1040A—and your income was under $5,000—you can figure your tax by using the tax-table on the back of the instruction sheet which the Internal Revenue Service sends every taxpayer. If you don't have it, get it.

—:—

BUT IF YOUR income was under $5,000 and you're using 1040A, you don't have to figure your tax, if you don't want to. Just answer the questions, send it to your local IRS director and let him figure it out.

Then he'll send you a bill if you still owe some tax or a refund if he finds you paid too much tax during the year.

If your income was over $5,000 but under $10,000 — and you're using 1040A—you must compute your own tax from the tax-rate schedule on the instruction sheet.

In this case, if you find you still owe tax, you must send your IRS director a check. If you've overpaid your tax in 1958, he'll send you a refund.

If you have to use 1040 but your income was $5,000 and your deductions were under 10 per cent —if they were, of course, you don't have to itemize them — you can figure your own tax by using the tax-table on the instruction sheet.

But if your taxable income was $5,000 or more — whether you use 1040A or 1040 — you must figure your own tax from the schedule which fits your case in the instruction sheet.

Pay Too Much Social Security? Claim Credit

Persons who worked for more than one employer in 1958 may be entitled to a credit on their federal income tax for social security taxes paid during the year, William Tracewell, administrative assistant at the Marion branch office of the Internal Revenue Service, said today.

Social security taxes were collected only from the first $4,200 of income last year but those who worked for more than one employer may have paid more than the maximum, he said.

Those claiming credit for overpayment on this account should enter their social security number on the income tax return and attach a copy of each Form W-2 received from employers, he said.

Hysterectomy Necessary With Some Fibroids

Yesterday's discussion described fibroid tumors of the uterus which are of interest to so many women.

Dr. Molner

Today we'll talk about treatment — beginning with the fact that many fibroids never grow large enough to require it, and are located in such a way that they do no mischief.

These may safely be left alone. Of course it is wise for your physician to keep track of them from time to time, to see whether they grow or for any other reason require attention.

Rarely malignant changes (cancer) have been known to occur in fibroid tumors, but generally they remain benign.

So, on the basis of these facts, should fibroids be removed? I think the answer is obvious: not necessarily. It will depend on the size and location, and, in the last analysis, on the symptoms, if there are any.

—:—

EXCESSIVE bleeding that causes anemia is one sound reason for removal. Another is pressure on the bladder if a tumor is of such size and such location as to interfere in that way.

Often if the tumor (see yesterday's discussion; lies on the outside of the uterus, it can be shelled out, leaving the uterus intact and not interfering in any way with bearing children.

Again, if numerous fibroids are present, complete removal of the uterus (hysterectomy) may be in order.

This does not, however, mean that the ovaries, too, must be removed. If they are found to be normal, they may be left, thus avoiding premature menopause or "surgical menopause."

IT SHOULD BE kept in mind that the age of the woman enters into the doctor's considerations. If she is near the usual menopause age and has had her children, the uterus may be sacrificed to the patient's benefit.

But if she is younger, then every effort will be made to conserve the uterus. To be sure, sometimes the fibroids may be so numerous or large or unfortunately located that there is no choice, and the uterus has to come out.

However, this is not to be done capriciously. The first thought is to wait and see.

Finally, there is a rather widespread belief that fibroids disappear during menopause. This is not true. They may recede somewhat in size, with no new ones forming subsequently, but expecting them to disappear from that cause is unfortunately not borne out by fact.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have been using a hula hoop to help lose inches around the waist. I've mastered it so I can now swing it around 500 times and my efforts are beginning to pay off. A friend of mine told me she read that the hoops are injurious to adults' spines. I've developed a pain in the back of my neck lately, and wonder if there is any truth to that report. I am 26 and otherwise in good health.—Mrs. H.F."

I thought the hoop fad was over. Yes, I've read reports of people getting their backs out of whack although I haven't seen an actual case of it myself. I think the best advice is just this: Eating 500 calories less a day is easier, more effective, and less painful if your waistline needs slimming.

—:—

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is it harmful for a man to shave the hair off his chest? —Mrs. M.T.C."

No, but I can't see any benefit, and it would be an awkward place to shave.

—:—

Why suffer from sinus trouble? Much can be done to help you, and it is explained in my booklet, "You Can Stop Sinus Trouble." To receive your copy, write to me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Horse Show Planned

RICHFIELD — The Richfield PTA and the Richfield Amvets are making plans for the third annual horse show, a Central Ohio Saddle Club Association point show. The event will feature western classes on Saturday, May 16, and English classes on Sunday, May 17. The show will be held at the Richfield School grounds in Summit County on Rt. 303 between Routes 21 and 176.

Marion County Village Councils

Council meetings were held in the village of Prospect and Waldo Monday night with routine business transacted at both sessions. Reports of the meetings follow:

—Prospect—

The first reading was given two ordinances concerned with the purchase of electric power from the Ohio Edison Co.

Council voted to purchase two electric hand lanterns from the Marion Candy Co. for the fire department. Also purchased for the fire department were five coats, hats and pairs of boots from Certified Fire Appliances of Marion. Council also approved the purchase of a high rate generator for the fire engine from Conrad Chevrolet of Prospect.

A special council session will be held at 5:30 Wednesday afternoon with a Richwood man to discuss work needed on trees in the village.

—Waldo—

A resolution was passed by the Waldo Village Council Monday night putting council on record as favoring the maintenance of Rt. 23 on its present course through the village.

The question of which route the highway will follow has been discussed several times in the village in the last several months. Several village officials have been to Columbus already to urge the state highway department to keep the road on its present course.

Dentists To Back Scholastic Dinner

Plans were made to assist in sponsoring a banquet for members of the National Honor Society in the local schools in April when the Marion Academy of Denistry met for dinner Monday night at Hotel Harding.

A donation of $50 for food for the banquet was voted by the group. The dentists will be joined in holding the banquet by local lawyers, doctors and engineers.

Dr. Ralph Burton and Dr. H. Ray Finney were elected to three-year terms on the board of the Marion General Hospital Dental Clinic, an agency supported by the United Appeals.

Guest speaker for the meeting was Carl Stanford of the Ohio National Bank of Columbus. His subject was "Estate Planning for Dentists."

Seventeen members were present from Marion, Marysville, Kenton and Mount Gilead. For the next meeting, April 20, members of the Academy will entertain their assistants.

Council at Crestline Agrees To Buy 100 Parking Meters

CRESTLINE — Crestline Village Council Monday night accepted the bid of the Duncan Parking Meter Division of Motor Products Corp. of Pittsburgh for 100 new parking meters for the village.

The firm was one of three bidders for the meters. It is the same company which provided the meters now in use in the town. Its bid was for $59.50 a meter, a $5 allowance for each trade-in, and a payment rate of $1.50 per meter each month.

Highest Bid Offered

Council accepted the bid, even though it was the highest of three offered, when it was pointed out that considerable equipment is offered free by the company.

The other bids were submitted by the Michaels Art Bronze Co. of Covington, Ky., for $51.50 each with a $5 trade-in allowance, and the Dual Parking Meter Co. of Pittsburgh for $54 each with a $7.50 trade-in. Both would be repaid at the rate of $2 a meter each month.

Council passed an ordinance accepting the petition of M. E. Webb and Charles Barker for annexation of land in the Crestline Acres territory to the village. Mayor A. C. Smith and Solicitor John Berger are to contact the Richland County commissioners for more information on how the annexation is to be carried out.

Glauer Installed

Council passed a resolution expressing its disfavor with the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads' plan to install automatic crossing gates at the S. Thomas St. crossing. Councilmen said they felt the automatic crossing gates would hold down too long and cause traffic congestion. They proposed instead that electric manually - operated gates be installed.

Franklin Glauer was installed as a councilman to fill the vacancy created by the recent death of John Rinker.

The fire committee recommended that council not accept the application of John F. Klein for a fireman's post. Council reacted the application and appointed Glenn Miller, a former fireman to fill the vacant post.

Firemen and the Kelly Park Swimming Pool Committee were granted permission to hold a carnival at the park June 8-13 with the two groups to share equally in the proceeds.

A report of equipment needed at the sewage disposal plant was given and council gave plant officials authority to purchase the equipment without bids. Some $1,560 worth of chains and sprockets are to be ordered from the American Well Workers in Aurora, Ill.

Village engineer Fred Crocka said he will have sewer investigation reports of the drainage condition at the Andy Tuscan residence on Bauer Ave. prepared in 30 days.

Residents of N. Clink Blvd. complained about the condition of the street. Council agreed to fill the chuckholes with stone until warmer weather permits more permanent repairs.

The payroll of $1,130 was ordered paid as read.

Rubber Strike Ends

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Production was back to normal today at the Mohawk Rubber Co., hit by a wildcat work stoppage Saturday. A company spokesman said the walkout was in protest over a job revision. The grievance was settled by union and company representatives Monday after 600 employes had returned to their jobs.

NLRB's Hearing Nearing End Here

Four witnesses testified Monday for the Marion Division of the Whirlpool Corp. at a National Labor Relations Board hearing that today entered its 10th day.

Appearing on the witness stand yesterday were these employes: David O. Hughes, manager of plant security; Bruce Kramp, press room foreman; John Boblenz, a salvage repairman; and William Greenhill, manager of public relations.

There was an indication that the company would conclude presenting its case later today or Wednesday morning. Remaining before the hearing ended would be rebutal testimony, if any, and closing arguments.

The lengthy hearing is the outgrowth of an unfair labor practice charge, later amended, brought against the company by the United Auto Workers last year.

Police Reports

A break-in at her residence was reported Monday by Mrs. Mae Tucker of 420 N. Greenwood St. She said the glass was broken out of a door on a sun porch at the rear of the house and the kitchen was entered by crawling through a window from the sun porch.

Stolen from a bedroom was a piggy bank with an undetermined number of pennies and about $21 in other coins and paper money and $20 from a dresser drawer, she said. The burglary apparently occurred between 7 and 11 p.m. Sunday while Mrs. Tucker was gone from the house.

—:—

Vance Dutton of 157 Sharpless Ct. reported Monday that two hub caps valued at $15 were taken from his car while it was parked in the 600 block of W. Center St.

Youth Group Activities

GIRL SCOUTS

Mothers were guests when the Waldo Girl Scouts observed the birthday anniversary of scout founder, Juliet Lowe, with a party in the Knights of Pythias Hall Friday night.

The program opened with pledge of allegiance to flags carried by Jean Ann Shoaf, Doris Myers and Jo Ella Paulus of Troop 101.

Troop 100 followed with a reading on the life of Juliet Lowe and one on the meaning of the seven days of Girl Scout week, written by Mrs. Horace Wilson, troop coleader. They concluded their portion with the "Crocodile Song."

Troop 103 of the Waldo Brownies taught the group the song, "Six Little Ducks," and Brownie Troop 102 taught the girls, "A'joggin' Along."

Highlighting the program was the film, "A Trip to our Chalet," shown by Mrs. Robert Miley, mistress of ceremonies.

Mrs. Lowell Thomas then played a march while the girls formed a friendship circle and dropped birthday money (a penny for each year of their age) into the Juliet Lowe fund.

Waldo's newest Brownie troop led the entire group in singing, "Happy Birthday," and the program concluded with folk dancing led by Mrs. Cecil Gabler, another friendship circle and taps.

The box used for collecting the birthday money was decorated by Mrs. Glenn Russell, troop organizer for the Waldo area. It was surrounded by eleven green candles in marshmallow containers to represent the 41 years since the founding of the Girl Scouts and one yellow candle to commemorate Girl Scout Thinking Day, Feb. 22.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Richard Groll, Mrs. Vinton Porterfield and Mrs. Dewey Yake.

Troop leaders and co-leaders assisting with the program were Mrs. Richard Dutt, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Richard Dune, Mrs. Leon McCorkle, Mrs. Robert Miley, Mrs. Guy Edwards, Mrs. Ronald Rengert, Mrs. John Laucher Jr., Mrs. Bruce Baker and Mrs. Donald Seitter. Mrs. Harold Demorest is neighborhood chairman for the Waldo area.

Cooking badges were awarded and original skits presented when Girl Scout Troop 7 of Pearl St. School entertained their parents in a special program Friday night at the Ohio Edison Co.

Nineteen girls received cooking badges and 12 were presented stars for having completed a previous year as Brownie Scouts.

Requirements for the cooking program were met through instruction under the direction of Miss Ruth Kleinmaier of the Ohio Edison Co.

Cookies made by the girls were served, along with punch, at the program's conclusion.

Co-leaders of the troop are Mrs. Bernard Thompson and Mrs. R. E. Scott.

4-H CLUB

Plans for a financial project were made when the Clever Claridon Cloverettes 4-H Club met Wednesday in the home of Janice Kinsler with Cynthia Martin as co-hostess. A bake sale has been arranged for Saturday this week at Miller's Department Store at the Marion Plaza Shopping Center, beginning at 9:45 a.m. The next club meeting will be at the home of Tena Long.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS

In observance of the 49th anniversary of the founding of the Campfire Girls by Dr. Luther Halsey Gulick, Marion's Campfire Girls held a celebration Saturday.

In the morning, members baked cakes for a contest with the judging done by Miss Ruth Kleinmaier, senior home economist with the Ohio Edison Co., in the company's home service center.

Winners from the three Campfire Groups were Ann Algie of Imi Tonga Group, Kay Keller of Ta Wanka Group, and Carol Hinklin of Kicha Group, and grand champion was Ann Algie. Presenting awards in the contest was Mrs. Raymond Hinklin, a leader.

Members of the Campfire groups gathered at the Ohio Edison center in the afternoon for recreation, directed by Miss Elaine Robinson, physical education teacher in the city schools, and the presentation of the contest awards. A brief history of the Campfire organization was given by Mrs. Robert Algie, a leader. Later, the leaders iced the cakes baked by the girls and they were served for refreshments.

Assisting Mrs. Hinklin with plans for the affair was Mrs. William Cover. Other leaders include Mrs. Joseph Scott, Mrs. George Wallsmith, Mrs. James Carpenter, Mrs. James Reeder, Mrs. W. R. Roberts and Mrs. G. H. Power.

Condition Satisfactory

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 12-year-old boy who underwent heart surgery at St. Vincent Charity Hospital was reported in satisfactory condition today. James Mullins III of Toledo was operated on to repair a condition that developed seven years ago from rheumatic fever. The heart was enlarged. An International Pork Barrel

The annual legislative exercise known as cutting the foreign-aid request is now starting in Washington.

In due time, the forces opposed to giving the administration what it wants will sit down with the forces in favor of giving it what it wants and make a deal whereby the administration will get almost everything it wants.

There is nothing to be gained by taking either side seriously until both sides have arrived at a final figure, which will be something less than four billion and something more than three billion dollars. Even this will not reveal much because no bookkeeping in Washington is harder to follow than foreign-aid bookkeeping. In general, Congress always has voted to spend more money than could be spent; there always has been multi-billion leeway.

This is as it should be for what is, in effect, an international pork barrel with enough goodies for every applicant who can show reasonable promise of doing something to thwart the international growth of Communism. In politics, it would be called a slush fund, but the purpose would be the same—to reward friends and punish enemies.

But "pork barrel," which is the legislative term for the arrangement whereby members of Congress help one another improve the lot of mankind, is more nearly descriptive of foreign aid.

The Truman and Eisenhower administrations both have defended it as a bargain in international cooperation. Its critics have assailed it as an expensive way to buy friends who somehow are always needing to be rebought.

But there is a tell-tale truism about foreign aid that no congressman will admit and the White House cannot speak of—that if the White House were opposing it and Congress were proposing it the sum would be much larger.

Anyone who thinks Congress would not propose it if two presidential administrations hadn't thought of it first is being naive about the nature of the pork barrel, which is a standard fixture in public affairs. By one name or another every government maintains a fund for exerting influence where it believes influence would do the most good. In the United States, the fund is called "foreign aid."

You Can Be Sure if It's . . . Etc.

Duncan Hines did very well with an idea as old as the problems that are common to all travelers.

They need a way to find out where the best accommodations are. They want to be reassured that the food and lodging which await them will be satisfactory.

There had been a thousand ways developed to get the information before Duncan Hines' guides came into existence — and all of them, no doubt, are still in use.

Other travelers always are asked where they ate and slept well. Policemen are asked to recommend restaurants. Filling station attendants are quizzed about the quality of lodgings.

One of the most fallacious ideas ever loosed on the public — that truck drivers always patronize restaurants that make good coffee —is still at large.

Individuals have their own standards of appraisal, such as decor and the presence or absence of pomp. Many a restaurant that would be put to it to stay in business has flourished after the addition of a few uniformed flunkeys.

All that Duncan Hines did was to systematize the information that people seek when they go traveling. He established the idea that if the food and lodging had been good enough for him to certify it, the next traveler would not be disappointed.

In an ear of uncertainties that threaten to turn existence into a hopeless gamble, he created areas of certainty. His idea had the beauty of simplicity, as all good ideas do. Wherever he left his mark, he created confidence because his judgment in the past had been good and must remain good in the future to make it saleable.

Meanwhile, Back at the Ranch . . .

With the best intentions imaginable, the managers of the American National Exhibition in Moscow this coming summer are going to lead Ivan and Petrushka Nyet, the Joe and Susie Doakes of galloping socialism, down the garden path.

The exhibit will feature a ranch home of the type currently fashionable in U.S. suburbia, and unavoidably Ivan and Petrushka will think this is the way all of us capitalist beasts seek shelter. That is, of course, the whole idea, because Russians as a whole never dreamed of anything so flossy as a ranch house. Not uncommonly, whole families of Russians live in a single room in city apartments and in rural houses that would be little more than tool sheds in the United States. Suburbia is still in the future in Russia.

But not all of us capitalist beasts live in ranch houses; that should be made clear to Russian visitors at the American National Exhibition. It would not be practical to show them all the other kinds of houses we have here, but there might be a few photographs and floor plans to give them the general idea.

For example, there is one kind of U.S. dwelling that might be called the original split-level job. It was split four ways—basement, first floor, second floor and attic. Sometimes the attic actually was a third floor, fixed up for occupancy.

The point to be made for Ivan and Petrushka is that millions of us made our start in the world in houses like that and many of us still like the arrangement. In fact, we think it may tell something about our national character that we find it agreeable to have the privacy that is one of the inalienable rights of homo Americanus.

There are even times when we think the four-way split level might become a fad again, as it did centuries ago when the early settlers tired of their one-floor quarters.

Rotary Accepts 4th Student Program

Already one of Ohio's most active Rotary clubs in the field of international service, the Marion Rotary Club has added still another project of that type .

In a decision reached by its board of directors last week, the local club agreed to entertain two busloads of touring foreign exchange students the weekend of July 11-13.

There will be 70 students and 4 chaperones, and the homes of at least 50 Rotarians will be required to care for them Saturday and Sunday nights.

This will be the fourth student visitation program in which the Marion Rotary Club has been involved in the 1958-1959 Rotary year.

Miss Dorothy Riley of Blackpool, England, was here last summer under the International Research Foundation program for college graduates.

Tim Rothe of Denmark is in Marion for the entire school year as a senior at Harding High School under the American Field Service visitation program.

Because he is here Harding will be eligible to send a junior student abroad this summer under a reverse AFS program, and an announcement is expected within two weeks on what Harding student has been chosen.

The local committee screened the applicants down to four some time ago, and the final selection is being made in New York.

The underlying objective on all these projects is to improve international understanding by approaching the problem at a basic, personal level.

The Marion Rotary Club certainly is doing everything in its power to make the idea work.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Joseph N. Welch hasn't reported on the movie lot yet, but if we were Jimmy Stewart who stars in the picture with him, we wouldn't show up.

The Boston attorney who won fame in McCarthy hearings is no amateur night performer. The guy clicks. He is best remembered of all McCarthy probe performers and has wowed the audience on TV productions without half trying.

Joseph admits there is "a slice of ham in me and in all lawyers." In this Bay State attorney's case it is not a thick slice, but it is high - grade, neatly packaged and all the more dangerous to actors on the same program.

JIMMY STEWART is in for competition. Although Mr. Welch is cast in a relatively small part as a judge in "Anatomy of Murder," he may ride into court on a cow pony and wear a sombrero. He has a New England accent as distinct as Jimmy's drawl. We last saw Stewart in a stirring "Western" in which a lot of baddies had to be mopped up. While he did a good job we think Joe Welch would have had less trouble even taking time out to go to his Boston suburb home at night, as he did often at the McCarthy hearings.

Lana Turner, originally cast for picture, was reported withdrawing. She may have thought Mr. Welch tough competition, even if he is no eyeful in a sweater.

He never seems to be chewing up scenery, hamming it up or working hard to eclipse anybody. But after the show you go home saying, "That fellow Welch is a wonder. Didn't we see him years ago in 'The Old Homestead'?" Watch out, Jimmy! This can be the showdown.

Summit or Surrender?

By David Lawrence

Is the world about to witness one of the biggest hoaxes of all times — another "summit conference?"

Although a foreign ministers' meeting is to be held in Geneva in May, its failure is anticipated already as the cry is raised for a "summit conference."

Lawrence

Dispatches from abroad indicate that Prime Minister Macmillan has been forced into a political corner on the issue and favors a conference of heads of states. Also in the United States certain anti-administration spokesmen who are gullible enough to believe the Soviets will make concessions are speaking out in favor of "summit conferences."

In fact, it now is being suggested by Chairman Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that such conferences be held twice a year as a regular procedure.

But the average man will ask: "What is there about a 'summit conference' that makes it such an attractive idea to its sponsors?"

So far as the Soviets are concerned, it gives them a propaganda show. The men in the Kremlin can thereby demonstrate to their own people how the rest of the world comes to them begging for crumbs at the table of discussion.

As for the Allied side, it's a political issue in Great Britain, where the Socialist party pounds away at the Macmillan government by giving the impression that acceptance of a "summit conference" invitation means peace and that a refusal could lead to war.

SOMETHING of the same attitude characterizes the views of some opposition party leaders in the United States. Thus it is asserted Nikita Khrushchev has so much power that it is useless to talk to anyone else and it is being said in addition that there is no "No. 2 Man." The inference is that Khrushchev must be humored, and that he alone can make a "deal."

Actually, a "summit conference" is about the last place in the world that any deal can be made between governments. It isn't a quiet, deliberative affair held in a secluded spot where there is an opportunity for reflective discussion by the four top men concerned.

On the contrary, at a "summit conference" each of the heads of state has at his side half a dozen people — aides and advisers—plus clerks and stenographers.

There's not much that's private when there are 30 or 40 people in a room. Surrounding the conference outside are at least 1,000 newsmen, photographers and broadcasters demanding public statements and pictures. It isn't a conference but a carnival of publicity.

Unless the one to be held in Geneva in May is successful, President Eisenhower sees little value in a "summit conference" later on.

THE SOVIETS fully expect the West to yield to their demands. They look on democracies as weak, unstable, disunited countries which care more for material comforts than they do for principle.

Unfortunately, this was the way things looked to the dictators in Europe in the 1930s but when the chips were down the Allies fought a world war and won it.

History is repeating itself. A dictatorship is again miscalculating the strength and spirit of its adversaries. Weak-kneed persons on our side are giving aid and comfort to the Soviets by sniping at their own government from positions of prominence and influence in Parliaments abroad and in our Congress at home.

This is giving our potential enemies a basis for miscalculation. It could lead to the war everybody on the Western side is anxious to avoid.

Whatever "agreements" might be proclaimed by the "summit conference" would not be worth the paper they would be written on. The 1954 "summit conference" agreed solemnly that there should be free elections to reunify Germany. Now, after nearly five years, the Soviets have torn up that pledge and are brazenly threatening war if their new demands for keeping Germany dismembered are not accepted.

Firmness by the West will alone save the world from another war. There is a stanch and courageous will to resist at the White House and in the leadership of our armed forces.

But despite the honeyed words about unity that lately have come from Capitol Hill, the Soviets are convinced that the opposition party in the United States isn't really back of the American government. It's a mistaken belief but, judging from the utterances of some of the Democratic leaders and the qualifying phrases they use in giving lip service to national unity, the Moscow chieftains can readily get the idea that there's a real chance to wring concessions from the West.

St. Patrick's Day

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

Twenty million Americans of Irish descent today will honor St. Patrick, patron saint of their ancestral homeland.

They are very proud—on this day even tearfully proud—of their Irish past although they often know little about it except for one thing: Theyre sure that, like all Irishmen, they sprang from kings.

HAL BOYLE

But their history is written in their names.

Hubbard Keavy, a Los Angeles newsman, literary scholar and noted amateur chef, has made a hobby of studying Irish names. Many, he found, reflect Ireland's many foreign would-be conquerors. They are of Norman, Nordic, Welsh, Scottish—yes, even of English origin.

HERE ARE THE meanings of some well-known Irish names:

Bacon—The live pig. Of English—the saints save us—origin.

Ballard—Bald-headed.

Barker—One who stripped trees of bark for the tanner.

Baron—a real baron, or one who put on the airs of a baron.

Bell—from "le bel," meaning beautiful. Originally Norman.

Bowler—The maker of wooden bowls.

Blake—The black, from the complexion.

Boyle—From Bog Hill, the highest part of the bog.

Burke—Of the burg, or borough.

Calhoun—Battle-joyful

Casey—Vigilant, watchful.

Collier—The charcoal burner.

Connelly—Faithful to pledges.

Cooper—Maker of barrels.

Cosgrove—Son of the public crier.

Crosby—Son of the rhymer.

Craig—The rock.

Daly—Holding, or frequenting, assemblies.

Donohoe—A strong warrior.

Devalera—Of Valera, an ancient city in Spain.

Faulkner—Keeper of the Falcons.

FORD—THE STRONG. From the Norman, le fort.

Fox—The fox, one of sly or cunning disposition.

Garland—Wearer of a mustache. French origin.

Keavy—Men with long locks, or foot soldiers.

Kelly—Son of a blind hero.

Kennedy—Helmet-head.

Kilpatrick—Servant of St. Patrick.

McCarey—Son of a bald man.

McGown—Son of the smith.

McGraw—Son of grace, or prosperity.

Important Omission

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The one thing President Eisenhower didn't explain to the nation Monday night is what ideas this country has to offer the Soviet Union to avoid a showdown and perhaps war over Berlin.

He used his nationwide broadcast to restate positions he has already publicly explained — on Berlin and American defenses — but he threw in this: That this country does have new ideas to offer the U.S.S.R.

He didn't say what they are. Possibly the Western Allies are not yet fully agreed on what to propose. They may achieve such agreement after British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan confers here this week with the President.

THESE WERE the familiar, but main, bases Eisenhower touched:

1. He assured the country—despite Democratic criticism that his economy drive will jeopardize American defenses in the future—that those defenses not only are adequate now but will remain so.

2. He explained why this country is involved in Berlin: That wartime agreements not only give the Allies the right to keep troops in West Berlin but guarantee them free passage of supplies for the troops through Communist East Germany.

3. He repeated what he has said before: This country won't yield to Soviet demands that the Allies get out of Berlin; and it won't recognize the right of the East Germans to stop supplies for the Allied garrisons in Berlin.

SINCE BERLIN is 110 miles inside East Germany, any Allied supplies for the city must pass over East German territory: In the air, by road, or by rail.

Eisenhower led up to the mention of new ideas this way:

First, he ruled out any yielding to Soviet demands or threats about Berlin because of obligations to the two million West Berliners, because of principles and agreements involved, and because it would weaken America's world leadership.

Second, he acknowledged that any yielding position might mean war, suggested that war would be even more likely if the United States backed up, and said that if war came the Soviets would be to blame. So, he was still unyielding.

Third, he pointed to negotiations with the Soviets as the one way to avoid a military showdown. Speaking of negotiations, he said:

"We are willing to listen to new ideas and are prepared to present others."

RIGHT THERE he got off the subject of new ideas, leaving the world and Premier Nikita Khrushchev to guess what he had in mind.

It must be remembered that Khrushchev has a tremendous stake in the Berlin outcome, too: If the Allies don't back down, and he has to retreat to avoid war, he has suffered a major defeat.

But since Eisenhower refuses to budge on Berlin, or as he says, be a party to any permanent division of Germany, it's hard to see what new ideas he could offer that would satisfy Khrushchev, at least on Berlin.

Previously Eisenhower had brushed off any thought of a summit meeting with Khrushchev unless first, through a meeting of foreign ministers, there was some reason to think a summit meeting would be useful.

MONDAY NIGHT Eisenhower was still putting a foreign ministers get-together preliminary to a summit meeting.

Then he said: "Assuming developments justify a summer meeting at the summit, the United States (meaning Eisenhower, himself) would be ready to participate in this further effort."

Some may read into that sentence — since it omitted direct mention of a need for advance progress—a softening in his attitude and a greater readiness to meet at the summit even if the foreign ministers accomplish nothing.

But elsewhere in his speech he said: "The United States and its allies stand ready to talk with Soviet representatives at any time and under any circumstances which offer prospects of worthwhile results."

That doesn't look like much of a softening.

Age of Anxiety

By Truman Twill

Psychologists at Columbia University have learned that a monkey and a pigeon trained to go through certain mechanical moves to get a squirt of orange juice and a grain of corn fuzz out if given tranquilizers. They can't cut the mustard, as we say at the office.

But it doesn't bother them, because they are tranquilized.

This is the story of the Age of Anxiety.

All of us monkeys and pigeons are being given a choice between being anxious and being tranquil.

The catch is that we achieve tranquility at the price performance. We are like the alcoholic lush who gets a glow on at the expense of his mental sharpness and physical coordination.

The lush ends up by being at peace with the world. He is happy as a clam at high tide. Yet, it never has occurred to anyone to think of a clam at high tide as the most admirable of living things.

It is impossible any more to go through a week with one's eyes and ears open without running across the statement, "This is an age of anxiety."

Anxiety has become the badge of distinction that men wear in the mid-20th century to mark them from men in other centuries. Even school children these days are supposed to be anxious. Parents insist that their offspring are "nervous," with more than a fair share of mental problems, if they wander off the beam.

Teen-agers are said to have special problems. Young adults are supposed to be under the guns in a special kind of combat with the world.

The middle-aged, of course, are living in a tizzy of frustration as they try to keep their health and sanity in the rat race they are running. And at the end of the line are the special problems of the aged.

They all have problems. They are schooled to believe that if the problems get too big for them to handle they can gulp a tranquilizer and make everything seem to be all right.

The monkey may not get any orange juice and the pigeon may get no corn, but as long as they don't worry it's all right. The big thing is to avert anxiety.

Not all tranquilizers, moreover, are in pill form. There is the public commission set up to study whatever anxiety is causing trouble. This has the effect of "numbing" the collective pain.

There is the form of blaming something beyond control, thus evading personal responsibility.

There is the form of getting expert opinion from someone else, which turns out to be a mumbo-jumbo that fuzzes out the whole matter so no one can be sure any more what was being worried about in the first place.

There is the form of democratic discussion, which turns the problem into a pro-and-con mish-mash and blanks out awareness of its realities.

These, too, are tranquilizers for the Age of Anxiety.

They fuzz out awareness of what needs to be done and insulate the human mind against anxiety.

It is an admirable technique for the care of addled souls in mental hospitals, but have not the psychologists at Columbia illustrated what is wrong with it for monkeys and pigeons that are supposed to be normal?

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to say a few dozen words to Sheepskin Sarah and her brother. They complained because their spouses used poor grammar. Well, I have another point of view to inject into this battle.

My wife uses impeccable grammar, she has an IQ of 140, and she is a sparkling conversationalist. She hasn't split an infinitive or dangled a participle since she was 5.

BUT—when I walk into the house I never know if dinner will be at 6 or 10. The sink is always filled with dishes and she speaks so well she tells me in perfect English how busy she's been all day and why there's no dinner and darned little in the house to prepare, once she gets around to it.

I get my own breakfast and I fix the kids' hot cereal. Their mother can't get her head off the pillow until noon because she's knocked out from reading Tolstoy till 4 a.m.

Please tell Sheepskin Sarah and her brother I'd gladly trade my wife's fancy Boston accent and perfect English for three successive meals on time.—HACKNEY HAL.

Dear Hal: You do pretty well with the language yourself, Bub. Thanks for writing.

—:—

High Explosive

Dear Ann Landers: Maybe it's my imagination but I don't think so. There's a 26-year-old divorced woman who lives next to us in this apartment building. She has a 5-year-old daughter. Our 20-year-old son practically lives over there and it's getting to be more than I can stand.

At first we used to kid him but now it's past the joking stage. He has painted her apartment and varnished her floors. He runs errands for her all over town (in my car) and I can't get him to do one thing for me—his own mother.

The other evening I walked into her apartment without knocking. My husband said this was impolite and maybe he's right. Anyway, impolite or not, I caught my son with his arm around this woman. He said they were dancing. There was no music.

Shall I come right out and tell her to move? My husband said to write to you and get some advice.—NERVOUS MOTHER.

Dear Nervous: If you tell this woman to move she'll probably tell you you're out of your head and to mind your own business. The sledgehammer approach would be an open declaration of war and accomplish nothing.

Your husband should have a frank talk with Junior. This woman is too old and too experienced for him. He should be dating high school seniors or college freshmen. His father should point out that he's playing with dynamite and it could wreck his entire life.

—:—

Wandering Dad

Dear Ann Landers: My mother and father were divorced when I was 7 years old. I'm going on 16 and have not seen my father since. Now that I'm older I find myself thinking about my dad a lot.

Two weeks before Christmas I asked my teacher if I should write him a friendly letter and tell him all about my interests and things like that. She said it would be a nice gesture but not to let my mother know.

I wrote to him and expected some kind of an answer but so far nothing has come. Do you think maybe the letter was lost in the mail because of the Christmas rush?

I decided to ask you if I should write to him again. Please let me know through the paper as Mom wouldn't like this at all—DOROTHY O.

—:—

Dear Dorothy: Your teacher gave you bad advice. In the first place she should not have suggested that you write behind your mother's back. In the second place, if your Dad and Mother have been divorced for nine years and YOU know where HE is, HE knows where you are. A father who would make no effort to see his daughter in all this time doesn't deserve any consideration.

It's easy to build beautiful fantasies around a Daddy who isn't there. Don't let your imagination play tricks on you.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Marion Star, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Holmes-Liberty Player Named on All-State Team

Schiefer, Mt. Zion's Noggle Are Chosen

Jerry Schiefer, 5-10 scoring ace of Holmes-Liberty, nailed down a first string berth on the Associated Press' All-Ohio Class A basketball team announced today.

Vern Noggle, chief point maker for Mount Zion, Crawford County's other powerhouse, was awarded a spot on the third team.

No Marion County cagers were named to the honorable mention list although several Central District stars were cited. Several cagers who competed in the recent Central District Sectional action here and at Westerville were included. They were: Tom Callahan of Newark Central Catholic, Carl Holman of Jacksontown, Dave Ison of Pickerington, Boze Johnson of Northwestern, Stebe Strome of Pickerington and Jim Turner of Jacksontown.

Few in State Tourney

State tournament fans will see few of the stars in action Friday and Saturday at Columbus.

The selections, made by hundreds of coaches, newspaper and radio - television personnel, are based on pre-tournament games—and most of the standouts fell by the way side on the long trail to the state meet.

Only Dean Chance of Northwestern's defending champion Huskies will be in action this weekend, along with several who made the honorable mention list. Chance, balance wheel of the Wayne County Kings, was named to the first team.

Average 157 Points

Chance and his four teammates on the All-Ohio scored an average of 157 points per game during the regular season. Charley Coles of Yellow Springs Bryan and Emil Hartman of The Ohio School for the Deaf, averaged over 40 per game. Hartman is the lone first team repeater from 1958.

W. C. McConnell, state high school athletic commissioner, said today eligibility sheets of the 601 Class A schools bore the names of more than 15,000 players. Thus the five first-stringers on the all-state squad are "3,000-to-1" shots and even the honorable mention list is made up of standout performers.

With Chance, Hartman and Coles on the first team are Jim Werk, 6-5 rebounder and heavy scorer for Camden Shawnee, who moves up from last year's third team, and Jerry Schiefer of Holmes-Liberty of Bucyrus, a 5-10 outside shooter and speed king.

Don Fields of Port William, first stringer a year ago, failed to nudge his way into the top flight this year and wound up on the second team with Tom Adolph of Mogadore, Lloyd Kerr of Old Washington, Ray Etzler of Convoy-Union, and Lyle Pepin of Geneva Spencer.

Win Honorable Mention

Carl Holman and Jim Turner of Lynnwood-Jacksontown made the honorable mention list, along with Boze Johnson of Northwestern and Al Thrasher of Salem Local—and all will see action in this weekend's state tourney.

Only Edgerton of the state finals east failed to land a man among the elite. Here they are, Ohio's top-fighters in Class A:

FIRST TEAM

Player, School Games-Points Ht.
Chas. Coles, Yellow Springs Bryan
19-799 6-1
Dean Chance, Northwestern
20-506 6-3
Emil Hartman, Ohio Deaf
17-710 5-10
Jerry Schiefer, Holmes-Liberty
17-456 5-10
Jim Werk, Camden Shawnee
22-462 6-5

Second Team

Tom Adolph, Mogadore
Lloyd Kerr, Old Washington
Don Fields, Port William
Ray Etzler, Convoy-Union
Lyle Pepin, Geneva Spencer

Third Team

Leroy Frazier, New Boston
Vern Noggle, Mount Zion
Arden Kackley, Pleasant City
Steve Schumm, Norwalk St. Paul
Ron Salser, Racine

Play Resumes In NIT Chase, Two Games Set

NEW YORK (AP)—"Circle the wagons, boys, the Redskins are coming."

Nope, it's not another TV-Western. It's the rallying cry of the New York University basketball team tonight at Madison Square Garden.

NYU plays Oklahoma City University in the quarter-finals of the National Invitation Tournament and the Oklahomans have two full blooded Indians in their lineup.

They are Fred Yeahquo and Bud Sahmaunt, cousins from the Kiowa tribe. Without them, says Oklahoma City Coach Abe Lemons, his team might not be able to beat a rug.

"We used Yeahquo as a substitute for a while and we found him coming in and scoring 10 or 12 points almost before you noticed it," says Lemons. "We had to promote him to starter.

Sahmaunt is a guard, one of the fastest and most aggressive men on the squad."

NYU is favored by eight points over the relatively small Chiefs.

In the other game, the towering St. Louis Billikens (average height: 6-5), play Providence. The winners meet Bradley and St. John's, respectively, in the semi-finals.

St Louis also is an eight-point choice.

Tribe Signs Collegian to Bonus Pact

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A University of Arizona third baseman unpacked his bags at the Cleveland Indians' training camp today.

And a well-traveled shortstop, Billy Hunter, packed his equipment for the trip back to the minor leagues.

The new arrival, 21-year-old Gene Leek, signed a contract Monday for a reported $35,000 bonus. The 6-foot, 185-pound slugger is a junior at Arizona, but gave up his college eligibility by signing with the Tribe. He will be assigned to San Diego in the Pacific Coast League.

The 30-year-old Hunter, who hit only .185 in 98 games last season, was the first player cut from the roster. He will also go to San Diego on 24-hour recall.

Several major league clubs were interested in the smooth - fielding Leek, but said General Manager Frank Lane: "I told him that any young infielder who doesn't sign with Cleveland is crazy. His best chance of reaching the majors is with us."

Reds' Thomas Drops to .192 Batting Mark

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Frank Thomas is supposed to generate much power for the Cincinnati Reds this season, but you can't tell much from his exhibition performance.

He's batting a lackluster .192.

The former Pittsburgh Pirate said: "I'm looking forward to hitting between 30 and 35 homers for the Reds, drive in 100 or more runs and bat .300 for the first time."

Like most of his new teammates, Thomas went hitless Monday when the Pirates slugged out a 4-1 victory.

There was some doubt at start of spring training where Thomas would find himself—his regular third sack post, first base or the outfield.

But since then, he's been posted at the familiar hot corner. He said it makes little difference to him.

The Reds acquired Thomas and three others players Jan. 30 for third baseman Don Hoak, catcher Smoky Burgess and pitcher Harvey Haddix.

Class AA Action To Be Viewed on Television

If you've not bought your ticket to the Ohio High School State Basketball Tournament this weekend, you'll be able to watch the action on television.

TV station WLW-C (Channel 4) has announced it will carry both the Friday and Saturday night sessions of Class AA play. Ohio State University's WOSU-TV had previously noted it would carry all four sessions, including A and AA.

WLW-C will take to the air at 7:30 p.m. Friday for the tourney's AA semifinals and at 8 p.m. for Saturday's championship game.

Swim Club To Meet

The first membership meeting of the Marion Olympic Club has been set for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in Room 201 of the YMCA.

Purpose of the session is to elect trustees, according to R. L. Goldhart, president of the Marion Olympic Swimming Club, Inc.

Plans will also be made for the

Falcons Land Five Men on All-Star Team

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—The 1958-59 All Mid-American conference basketball team is unique — both first and second teams have six players.

The extra man resulted in both cases from ties in the balloting by the league's seven coaches.

Bowling Green's conference champion Falcons placed five men on the first, second and honorable mention teams. Miami, Kent State and Toledo each had three and the remaining schools, Ohio University, Marshall and Western Michigan, each had two.

Leo Byrd of Marshall, Ed Blair of Western Michigan and Jim Darrow, who finished 1-2-3 respectively in the conference scoring race, were unanimous choices for the first team. All are repeaters from the 1957-58 team.

Also named to the top "sextet" were Chuck McCampbell of Bowling Green and Oliver Wallace of Kent State and Ed Wingard of Miami, who tied in the voting.

Named to the second team were George Patterson of Toledo, John Milhoan of Marshall, Bob Anderson and Bunk Adams of Ohio U., Bill Brown of Miami and Sam Key of Western Michigan. Adams and Key tied in the voting.

Honorable mention went to Rex Leach, Frank Wade and Jim McDonald of Bowling Green, Charlie Boykin and Bob Thomas of Kent State, Willie Newson and John Papcun of Toledo and Jim Thomas of Miami.

Fritz Pollard was the first University of North Daokta athlete to win a spot on a U.S. Olympic team. A sprinter, he ran third behind Jesse Owens in the 1936 games.

Shrider Will Speak

Prexy Cage Team To Hear Address by Miami Mentor

Dick Shrider, 36-year-old head basketball coach at Miami University, will be guest speaker tonight at the fourth annual Harding High School Booster Club basketball banquet. The event is slated for 6:30 in the school cafeteria.

Coach Don Knodel will present awards to the Presidents, co-champions of the Marion Sectional Class AA tournament. Cheerleaders also will be honored at tonight's program.

Shrider's Redskins recently completed a 14-11 season which brought his two-year record in college action to 32 wins against 20 setbacks. In that period, his squad earned a co-championship with a 9-3 mark this year in Mid-American Conference play. They won the title outright last year with a perfect 12-0 mark.

—:—

A NATIVE OF Glenford, O., Shrider played on the Glenford High School teams which went to the state Class B tournament for three straight years, winning the championship in 1941, his senior year. Shrider himself was named to the all-tournament team in each of those years and was an All-Ohio selection during his junior and senior years.

Moving on to Ohio State for his college work, Shrider was a regular starter for the Buckeyes in his sophomore year before being transferred to the University of Michigan after entering the Navy's officer training program. He was a regular at Michigan the next year.

Following combat service in the Pacific, he enrolled at Ohio University in 1946. He was named to the All-Mid-American Conference team during the Conference's first year in 1946-47, made the same team again in his senior year and again became an All-Ohio selection, this time as a college player.

An appearance in the post-season East-West All-Star game in Madison Square Garden in 1948 and one year of play with the professional New York Knickerbockers in 1948-49 ended Shrider's playing career. After earning his masters' degree at Ohio in 1949, he began his coaching career at Gallipolis High School that same fall.

DURING six years at Gallipolis, his teams won 83 and lost 42, and Shrider was named Ohio's Coach of the Year in 1953-54 when his team won 19 of 21 games. The next year, with his team winning 20 of 22 games, Shrider was runnerup in the Coach of the Year, but one of his players, Jim Thomas, was Ohio's Player of the Year. Thomas just completed a brilliant career at Miami.

From Gallipolis, Shrider went to Fairborn High School just outside of Dayton, where in two years his teams won 20 and lost 13. Their 13 victories in the 1956-57 season was the most in the school's history.

When Shrider took over the reins at Miami two years ago, he became the first player in Mid-American Conference history to return as a coach in the Conference.

Moore Meets Bassey

Ohio Boxer Ready For Chance at Title

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The fight crowd remained divided today on the outcome of the world featherweight title bout between champion Hogan (Kid) Bassey and Davey Moore, the No. 1 challenger.

One thing is certain, however: One or the other is going to have a healthy winning streak snapped in the 15-round scrap, nationally televised from the Olympic Auditorium Wednesday night.

"It won't be my fighter's," said George Biddles, manager of the champion from Nigeria.

"My guy will win," declared canny Willie Ketchum, pilot of the contender from Springfield, Ohio.

Bassey, 26, who lives in Liverpool, England, has not been beaten in his last 11 matches, dating back to 1956.

The 25-year-old Davey hasn't lost in 13 fights. His last loss was in 1956.

"This is the longest Moore has ever been able to train for a fight," Ketchum disclosed. "Seven weeks was the longest he ever had before."

Ketchum explained that Moore has had difficulty landing opponents in the last 18 months.

"Nobody wanted to meet him, and in the long layoffs between fights he'd pick up seven or eight pounds and have to get rid of them in short order when we made a match," Ketchum explained.

"This time I'm ready. I've waited a long time for this chance," Moore added.

In his last fight, Dec. 11 in this same Olympic ring, Moore moved fast against Pajarito Moreno, exidol of Mexico. He polished off the "Little Bird" in one round.

A year ago Bassey achieved a similar demolition job on Moreno although it took him three rounds.

Monzant Offers To Begin Pitching Duties for Giants

By The Associated Press

The strange case of Ramon Monzant took on a bright green hue today.

Monzant has turned in his strike placard and taken up the cudgels of the anti-tax fanatics.

The San Francisco Giant pitcher, fugitive from spring training camp holed out in Venezuela, has decided he would like to play major league baseball this season.

Willing To Return

The right-hander, who compiled an 8-11 record in the 1958 campaign, said Monday the Giants could have his services if they meet his salary demands.

Ramon recently said he was fed up with baseball, having already wasted six unprofitable years in this country's favorite pastime, and was tossing away his resin bag. No amount of money, he said, could force him to reconsider his retirement plans.

The tempestuous Latin now wants $12,000 with $5,000 of that to be sent to him in advance—tax free!

Monzant's demands were voiced on a slow day for exhibitions. Pittsburgh defeated Cincinnati 4-1 and Kansas City dumped Detroit 6-0 in the only games played. The other teams were either idle or rained out.

Kluszewski Connects

Ted Kluszewski turned on his old teammates, cracking a home run and single for the Pirates. Big Klu's 390-foot homer against the Reds was his first of the year. Vernon Law and rookie Jim Hardison limited Cincinnati to three hits.

Two home runs and the combined five-hit pitching of Ned Garver and Walt Craddock brought the A's to the .500 mark in the exhibition standings. Rookie Kent Handley and Roger Maris powered the homers. It was Maris' first hit in 19 trips.

Rep. Polk Hits Cuts in Funds For Forestry

WASHINGTON (AP)—A White House decision to cut spending on forestry has been described as unwise by Rep. James G. Polk (D-Ohio).

In testimony before a House Appropriations Subcommittee, made public Monday, Polk said this would be harmful to Ohio in two ways:

1. It would slow the development of recreational facilities at Wayne National Forest in southern Ohio.

2. It would discourage tree planting throughout Ohio.

On his second point, Polk testified: "We have almost 800,000 acres of private land still in need of planting in Ohio.

"Our three state-operated nurseries at Green Springs, Marietta, and Zanesville are producing tree seedlings of the size and species suited to the timberlands to be reforested."

Spending cuts recommended by the Budget Bureau are a reduction nationally on forest recreation facilities from $9,985,400 in the current year to $8,500,000 in the coming year and a reduction nationally from $790,000 to $290,000 on forest tree planting.

Woody Hayes Stresses Consistency in Offense

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Ohio State football coach Woody Hayes isn't keeping his theory on creating a good offense a secret.

Hayes told more than 800 high school, prep and college coaches assembled here for the National Football Clinic yesterday that a good offense is built around consistency. He added: "'I'm willing to make 3 1-3 yards on every play and force the other guy to make the mistakes."

"When you start getting fancy, that's the best way to get beat," he said.

Lucky Pat—He's Visiting Ireland on St. Patrick's Day

Where would a fellow named Patrick O'Connor like to be on St. Patrick's Day?

Why in old "Erin," of course. And that's just where he is today.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe O'Connor of 781 Bexley Ave. is satisfying a life-long yearning to visit the country of his ancestry.

He is on a 10-day furlough from the Army camp where he is stationed in Germany. Pfc. O'Connor started the first lap of his trip last Saturday and planned to arrive in the Irish capital of Dublin today in time for special festivities.

The youth's father reports that Patrick will spend the balance of his leave touring Ireland and England.

A graduate of St. Mary High School, he attended college and was later employed by the Lennon Furniture Co. before entering the service about a year ago.

Bridges Calls for Speedup on Submarine Missiles and Bases

Would Avoid Widening of Military Gap

Views Aired by GOP Spokesman of Senate Preparedness Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—A speed-up in submarine missiles and building of underground missile bases was proposed today by Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH) to avoid any increasing gap between U.S. and Soviet military might.

As its top Republican member, Bridges said he will urge the Senate Preparedness subcommittee to recommend acceleration of the Polaris program and a quick start on the construction of underground pads from which intercontinental missiles could be fired.

"I believe that if we can get Polaris submarines into operation and get our missile pads underground we would have the greatest deterrent to any possible attack on us," Bridges said in an interview.

Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, told the subcommittee in censored testimony made public Monday that the Navy wants to build 12 Polaris-carrying submarines a year but that the Pentagon has not yet approved this plan. He said funds already provided by Congress for three such subs have not been spent.

Ranging on a wide field of military matters, Burke said that to "knuckle under" to the Soviets in the Berlin crisis would not help efforts to avoid war because the Soviets could start hostilities any time and any place they chose.

He said the United States now has military might "much greater than the U.S.S.R. and "a year from now it will still be greater."

New Mystery Missile Fired By Air Force

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force has fired another mystery missile on a secret flight test.

The launching Monday was the first big ballistic noise heard at the Cape since March 3 when space probe Pioneer IV blasted aloft on the start of a half-million mile trip past the moon and around the sun.

The rocket, a two-stage solid fuel missile reportedly developed by McDonnell Aircraft, roared up on the second security-wrapped mission in a month.

A terse no comment was the only reply from the Air Force concerning the mystery rocket which sources say is labeled "Project Draca." Air Force officials confirmed that a missile was fired but declined to discuss any details.

The McDonnell firm is developing a capsule to hurl the first man into space and is one of the bidders for the Air Force's project to develop a 1,000-mile range air-to-ground ballistic missile that could be fired from a plane traveling at supersonic speed.

Gets High Commendation

Col. Paul Long of Waldo Decorated by Air Force

COL. PAUL H. LONG
Cited for Distinguished Service

Col. Paul H. Long, son of the Rev. and Mrs. S. C. Long of Waldo, has been presented the Distinguished Service Medal for work in electronics and communications, the North American Air Defense Command announced today.

The veteran Air Force officer has been assistant deputy chief of staff for communications and electronics in the joint Canadian-United States Air Defense headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo., since October 1956.

—:—

HE WAS awarded the medal by the Secretary of the Air Force for outstanding achievements in planning and organizing the staff agency responsible for the development of the communications and electronics environments for the entire air defense system.

It is the highest decoration that can be awarded to an American military man in peacetime.

The medal was presented by Gen. Earle E. Partridge, commander-in-chief of the NORAD Command. In ceremonies honoring Col. Long, he paid tribute to the colonel's "unyielding drive and undiminished devotion to duty" that contributed to the communications network which provides the nerve system of Canadian and U.S. air defense.

More than half of Col. Long's 18 years of military service has been in the communications and electronics field. Prior to reporting to Colorado Springs, he was deputy chief of staff for engineering at the headquarters of Air Force Security Service.

IN OTHER assignments in communications, he served as deputy chief of the electronics systems division in Air Force headquarters and chief of the communications and electronics division at headquarters of the Fifth Air Division in North Africa.

Col. Long attended Waldo schools and received a bachelor of science degree at Capital University in Columbus. He took post graduate work at Ohio State University in biology and physical science. Prior to entering service as a second lieutenant in January 1942, he was a mathematics teacher and physics instructor in the Lyons, O., public school system.

During World War II, he served with U.S. forces in China from 1943 to 1945. He received the Purple Heart and Bronze Star for action in that theater.

Commissioned following attendance at the communications officers course, he also is a graduate of the Armed Forces Staff College and the Air War College.

Col. Long, his wife and three children reside at 1206 Morning Star Dr. in Colorado Springs. Mrs. Long is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKinstrie of Roanoke, Va.

without approval by the county.

Others indicated they would wait and see what develops before asking for pay boosts for their employes.

Mr. Keil said he expected the prosecutor to have a ruling on the question today if he doesn't have to seek an attorney general's opinion.

"What we want him to find out is if any particular department was overcertified, if the money can be retrieved by the county," said Mr. Keil.

The commissioner said that the auditor's budget contains a more complicated salary classification than most other departments and "can be deceptive."

Judge Ruzzo said the auditor disclosed at yesterday's meeting in the commissioners office that "some funds" now are available for pay increases.

"In view of this revised statement of the county's financial position, I feel duty bound to grant the employes of the Probate and Juvenile Courts a merited, much-deserved and long overdue pay increase," the judge wrote to the commissioners.

The commissioners pointed out that they received their appropriation figures by certification from the county budget commission. Members of the commission are the county auditor, prosecutor and treasurer.

County Recorder Arthur L. Watt, one of those whose requests for employe pay raises was denied, said:

"My position is that if they can find the money, every employe in this Courthouse should be raised —without exception."

Money-Making Pencil Is Lost by Youngster

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Mrs. Roy Klein was excited about her son's grades — for two weeks.

She had told him he would get a nickel for every 100 paper he brought home. For two weeks there were quite a few perfect papers.

But, one day a depressed James had to admit: "I can't get any more 100s. I lost the red pencil grandma gave me."

Secret Service Is Concerned Over Threat To Kill Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Secret Service is concerned about a man who has threatened several times to kill President Eisenhower.

In a statement for the House Appropriations Committee, the service describes the would-be assassin as a dishonorably discharged serviceman, an alcoholic, a drifter, a prison inmate and a former patient at a mental institution.

The statement, given to the committee in secret session and made public Monday, did not name the man nor indicate where he is now.

The service, which guards the President, told the committee the threats began in 1956. Since then, he served one six-month prison sentence in 1956 for carrying cartridges in Glenwood Springs, Colo., and spent less than a month in a mental institution in 1957 after attempting to telephone a threat to the President in Baltimore.

Psychiatry Aiding Emotional Youths

CHICAGO (AP) — Psychiatry is shedding new light on the emotional difficulties of children.

Dr. Victor Balaban of the National Assn. for Mental Health says parent's care is essential to a growing child, but if overdone it could strangle his security.

How can a parent tell when a child needs help with an emotional problem?

Prolonged unhappiness, frequent crying over trifles, signs of withdrawal, unreasonable fears, more-than-normal agressiveness, severe truancy, and signs of tension are some of the most common symptoms.

Dr. Balaban suggests if you don't know anyone to consult if there's something about your child that worries you, ask your local medical society or mental health group.

$30,827 Is Distributed In Sales Tax Receipts

Distribution of $30,827 in sales tax funds for the first quarter of 1959 was made to the county's governmental subdivisions today by County Auditor Maurice C. Clements.

The auditor said the city will receive $15,144 and the county will retain $10,790. The 15 townships will share in $3,083 and villages will split up $1,541, Mr. Clements said.

Man Dies of Burns

CLEVELAND (AP)—Colon Elliott, 65, died early today in Lakeside Hospital, where he was taken after he was found enveloped in flame at his home here.

Elliott's landlord, Tenus Brown, heard Elliott scream and found him in the bathroom, his clothes flaming. Brown smothered the flames with a blanket.

Firemen were unable to say how the fire started.

In 1844, Custis declared: "Years after my mortal body shall have been layed in the bosom of our common mother, some honest Irish heart may come, and dropping a shamrock on my grave cry 'God bless him.'"

Two years ago, the National Capital Parks Service started planting shamrocks on the grave. And now comes Sean Thomas O'Kelly, with shamrocks and an "honest Irish heart."

Bowling Offered Women at YMCA

A highlight of the Ladies Day Out and Business Women's programs at the YMCA this week will be bowling, Miss Nell Bailey, women's secretary, reported today.

She said any member of either group interested in participating in bowling activity should make reservations by telephoning the YMCA before 6 p.m. Wednesday.

The business women's group will meet Wednesday at the "Y" from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. for a craft project, followed by bowling at the Plaza Lanes Bowling Alley.

For the Ladies Day Out program Thursday, women will observe their regular morning gym and swim schedule, followed by a potluck luncheon and afternoon bowling at the Plaza Lanes, Miss Bailey said.

Police Dance Scheduled At Union Hall Saturday

A semi-formal "Spring Dance Party" will be held at the Local 750 Union Hall at Leader and Joseph streets Saturday night by the Fraternal Order of Police, Marion County Lodge 24.

Scheduled for 10 p.m. to 1 a.m., the affair will be limited to 150 couples.

Ticket price is $5 a couple and the money will be used to help defray the expense of a new FOP recreation and office building planned to be built in the northwest section of the city.

Commissioners Order Improvements on Road

The county commissioners Monday authorized County Engineer Reed Ours to begin preliminary work for proposed improvement of a one-mile section of County Rd. 83 in Salt Rock Township.

Mr. Ours was granted permission to survey the roadway for procuring a 60-foot right of way and to regrade the unpaved section. Cost of regrading, which will be done by the county, is estimated at $5,983.

The one-mile stretch of the road is the only unpaved section between Marion and Upper Sandusky.

Ike

effective and adequate military establishment."

In general, Congress members of both parties backed Eisenhowers declaration of firmness in the Berlin situation. Republicans welcomed, and some Democrats challenged, his assessment of the nation's military strength.

Eisenhower confidently cited the nation's long-range nuclear bomber force, plus 41 types of missiles either in production or under development, as powerful enough to resist communism's challenge, despite domestic critics who are urging him to spend more for defense.

Dominates Speech

Dominating Eisenhower's speech, however, were 46 words which appeared to move him a carefully measured step along the road to a summit conference Khrushchev has been urging since last November.

Referring to the Allied reply being prepared to the most recent Soviet note, he said:

"It is my hope that thereby all of us can reach agreement with the Soviets on an early meeting at the level of foreign ministers.

"Assuming developments that justify a summer meeting at the summit, the United States would be ready to participate in this further effort," he added.

Eisenhower's mention of a possible heads of government meeting, along with his fixing of an approximate date, came just three days before Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was due in town for strategy talks.

Macmillan Ready

Macmillan was reported ready to press Eisenhower for an agreement to convene such a top-level Big Four meeting as the only way to ease European tensions.

The British leader is understood to want a summit meeting regardless of whether a prior foreign ministers conference makes any progress on Germanys future.

Eisenhower implied he disagrees with Macmillan on this. He did not explain that developments he would consider as justifying a summit meeting.

One prominent Western diplomat flatly predicted on the basis of Eisenhower's remarks that a summit conference would be convened in August.

Conspicuously absent from Eisenhower's address also were his usual words of warning about the worldwide disillusionment that would follow an unsuccessful summit meeting.

Whatever his current thoughts on a summit meeting, Eisenhower made it clear he will not blindly accept Soviet demands.

Mercury Plunges to 22 After Hitting High of 40

As a rollicking wind sent cloud puffs scudding across the sky Monday, the temperature rose to a high of 40 and Marion Countians experienced an early but cool sampling of forthcoming spring.

The mercury fell during the night to 22, was back to 27 at noon today, and was expected to crest at 35 for the day's high.

A trace of snow was recorded, falling in the small hours of this morning.

The weatherman predicted fair and cold conditions tonight and Wednesday, with a low tonight of perhaps 20 followed by a high Wednesday of 38.

They said he was fined $20 and costs on a count of improper lights, and $35 and costs on a charge of unsafe operation.

Airplane, 2 Men Missing on Flight

SHELBYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—The Civil Air Patrol today reported that a Piper Tri-Pacer, with a pilot and one passenger, is missing along the Illinois-Indiana border.

Authorities said the plane, piloted by Kenneth Dale Reed, 29, of Shelbyville, was due late Monday night at the local airport on a flight from Mansfield, Ohio.

The CAP identified the passenger as Bob Daugherty of Pana, Ill.

The plane, a four-seater, left Mansfield at 6:20 p.m. Monday. Authorities said last radar contact was made with CAP at Indianapolis at 10:26 p.m. At that time, the plane was 17 miles northwest of Indianapolis.

Shelbyville is located in south central Illinois.

Horse Show Scheduled In Marion for June 27

Plans were launched for a horse show to be held in Marion by Circle M Horsemen Inc. on Saturday, June 27, when the members met Saturday night in the community rooms over the West Town Branch of the National City Bank.

The show will be an Ohio Western Horse Association approved point show. The place and show program will be completed and announced later by the committees planning the show.

Welcomed into the group as a new member was Charles McMahan. A covered dish dinner preceded the meeting. The next meeting will be April 18 in the bank community rooms.

$25,000 Grant Is Made In Study of Alcoholics

COLONIA, N. J. (AP) — Dr. Cyril M. Franks says he thinks that alcoholism is most likely to occur among extroverts — happy, outgoing individuals.

Franks, who has received a $25,000 grant to study alcoholism in the United States, feels the situation is least likely to occur in introverts — quiet people who prefer to remain by themselves to read or listen to music.

PILFERER ARRESTED

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A fireman of five years seniority was charged here after he admitted turning in two false alarms within 17 minutes. He was accused of rifling fellow workers' lockers while they were out looking for non-existent blazes.

Amish

He testified that only Monday night did the local Amish school board agree to adopt the standards for Amish schools throughout the state. Those standards included a requirement that a teacher must have at least an eighth grade education and have a natural talent to teach. The school term is set at 160 days and it is up to the local boards if they want to teach Ohio history.

He said the standards provide that no science shall be taught in the Amish schools and later said that the "Monkey Case" of several years ago was the main objection to that subject.

He said the Amish "comply with the law as closely as we can," but added that "our conscience dictates our standards."

He said he had recently asked Gov. DiSalle and the State Board of Education for relief for the Amish schools.

He said that the American flag is not flown in Amish schools because the Amish believe in government under God and that God is above the state. He said the Amish feel "it is our patriotic duty to resist an unjust law."

Just before the court recessed for lunch the county prosecutor called Joni Hershberger, county Amish school superintendent, to the stand.

Monday the two teachers, John D. Mast and Mrs. Amos Yoder, testified they did not finish high school. They said they both attended school in Lagrange County, Indiana, Mrs. Yoder for 9½ years and Mast through the second year of high school.

Both told the court that science courses were the major obstacle in keeping Amish schools below the minimum state standards. Mrs. Yoder said the Mennonite sect objects to instructing its youth in science because "it teaches too far from God.

Mrs. Yoder said she teaches 33 youngsters in grades one through eight in a school seven miles southeast of here.

Mast, a farmer, said he teaches 16 pupils in grades one through eight at a school six miles southeast of here.

Seven Witnesses Called

The two were among seven witnesses called in the opening session of the hearing before Hardin County Common Pleas Judge Arthur D. Tudor.

E. Guy Hammond, 76-year-old semi-retired attorney from Cuyahoga Falls, is representing the Amish.

Attorney Carlos Faulkner is representing the county board.

Among the other witnesses were:

Glenn A. Rich of Columbus, director of elementary and secondary education for the State Education Department, who said his inspection of the two schools Feb. 24 indicated they do not meet state requirements.

Miss Phila Humphreys of Columbus, elementary supervisor for the State Education Department, who said texts used in the Amish schools were published between 1939 and 1953 and in some cases the series are not complete.

Marion Lions View Science Fair Projects

Five participants of the Marion Science Fair held recently by the Marion public schools demonstrated their projects for Marion Lions Club members when the club met Monday noon at Hotel Harding.

In charge of the program was Cecil Gabler, who is director of instruction for the Marion city schools. He gave a background of the science program in Marion, explaining how the fair serves as a focal point of the science program for the year.

Taking part in the program were: Tom Yannitell, a senior at Harding High School, who demonstrated a Vande Graaff generator and told how he built it; John Farley, a ninth grade pupil at Eber Baker Junior High School, who displayed a working rocket, telling how he built it, what he expects to do with it and demonstrated how it works: Curtis Nermeister, a senior at Harding High School, who demonstrated a Tesla coil, giving several examples of how conductors work when placed in the arc of high frequency and how it will light up light bulbs without connections; and Robert Hill and Keith McFann, ninth grade pupils at Edison Junior High School, who demonstrated using algebra in aviation. They presented various flight situations and showed how to determine the courses which should be taken under various conditions. They used a working model in the demonstration.

Several old monarch awards were made by L. H. Larsen, president. A visiting Lion, Harold Oyster of Ashland, O., was present.

C. of C. Discusses Plan for Rezoning

Rezoning of some land in the old Scioto Ordnance plant area for industrial use was the main topic discussed at the regular meeting of the board of directors of the Marion Chamber of Commerce Monday noon at Hotel Harding.

The proposal will be given a hearing before the Marion Township board of trustees at a meeting Wednesday night in the trustee's offices above the Marion County Bank.

Involved in the proposal is a strip of land on each side of an Erie Railroad spur track that extends north from the Erie tracks and joins the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks northeast of the city.

The proposed rezoning is for 2,000 feet on each side of the spur from County Rd. 162 north to the junction with the Pennsy.

Members of the board were urged to attend the meeting and express their opinions pertaining to the proposed rezoning.

Conversation Pieces

"Inject a few raisins of conversation into the tasteless dough of existence," O. Henry once said, and television pounced on the idea with jaws yapping this season.

Marie Torre

Now the "dough" threatens to sour. As happens to all good things in TV, talk is approaching satiety. It has hit television the way the talkies hit movies late in the '20s, with TV entrepreneurs handing out conversation assignments so indiscriminately that it would seem that a voice box and a fearless manner before cameras are the only qualifications.

Since Jack Paar, Ed (Small World) Murrow and Arthur Godfrey reacquainted us with the joys of colloquy on a popular level, conversation on TV has been accelerated.

-:-

SOME OF IT'S worthy and good, but much of it ranges from middling to awful, and the worst offenders are local stations around the country. Their meager budgets, we suspect, recognize the fact that talk is cheap.

"What does a White House correspondent do?" a local interviewer asked a Washington reporter the other night.

"Cover the White House," answered his guest.

That's about as profound as some of those sessions get on the interview belt late at night, when the only diversion available to viewers are old movies or trivial pap.

On WNTA, for example, the conversationalists come by the bus load. Fannie Hurst has a daily conversation piece, and in the evenings the station offers Mike Wallace, Henry Morgan, David Suskind, Martin Gabel and Alexander King.

As if that's not enough, WNTA is negotiating now with Gypsy Rose Lee and Abe Burrows to handle further talking assignments. Able conversationalists, no doubt, but do we need so many?

As is true of parlor get-togethers, the conversation scintillates at first, then sags with trivia as the hours drift on.

In sum, this season in television might accurately be labeled, "Have Tongue, Will Travel!"

-:-

WHILE ED MURROW is out of the country — on a news assignment in England — his chair on "Person to Person" March 27 will be filled by Audrey Meadows. . . .

NBC has been unable to locate a sponsor for a third Jerry Lewis special of the season, so there won't be one at all. . . .

Veteran radio personality John B. Gambling, celebrating his 34th year on WOR this week, plans to retire in December 1960. He hopes his son, John A., 20, will take over his "Rambling With Gambling" and "Second Breakfast" shows at that time. . . .

NBC, reaching for men of literary distinction, has engaged John P. Marquand and Thomas B. Costain to write "Ten Commandment" scripts for its high-minded "Kaleidoscope" series. Each of the commandments will be dealt with in modern settings. Marquand will assay the second commandment under the heading, "Courtesy of the Port," while Costain will undate the ninth commandment, "Thou Shalt Not Bear False Witness."

REACTION to Alice Faye's recent NBC appearance — her first in many years — has fired other ambitions. Her next activity will be to record an album of torch songs. . . .

Nielsen apparently goofed last week when advance copies of the February Top Ten listed "Wagon Train" in No. 1 position, displacing "Gunsmoke" for the first time in two seasons. The truth of the matter, Nielsen says, is that "Gunsmoke" is still No. 1 and "Wagon Train" No. 2. . . .

Speaking of "mistakes," Phil Silvers told an interviewer in Atlanta the other day that he was "turning in his chips" after his series closes shop for the season in May. After the story appeared, Silvers moaned: "I must have been out of my mind. Theres nothing to it. I did say those things, but I must have been out of my mind."

Lacks Jurisdiction

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—The case of 15-year-old Richard Harter, charged with first-degree murder in a slaying here last October, has been sent back to Juvenile Judge Henry P. Beckenbach. At a sanity hearing Monday, Common Pleas Judge David G. Jenkins ruled that he lacked authority in the case and that it is up to juvenile authorities to inquire into Harter's sanity. Harter is charged with slaying of Edward Craven, 62, a railroad yardmaster here.

Probes Bank Shortage

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The FBI says it has been investigating since Thursday an alleged shortage at the Cuyahoga Falls branch of the First National Bank of Akron. William C. Murphy, agent in charge of the FBI's Cleveland Office, confirmed that a shortage had been found but declined to indicate how much money might be involved. A reliable source said the alleged shortage would be more than $75,000. One clerk, described by bank officials as "very trusted" was being investigated, but Murphy said no action will be taken until an audit is completed.

HEADS BAR. John D. Randall of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, was nominated in Chicago for the presidency of the American Bar Association. He takes office in August.

U.S. May Refuse France's Bid for Atomic Sub Data

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional sources said today France may have torpedoed her own bid for access to U.S. atomic submarine secrets by withholding her naval vessels from NATO command.

Although certain French fleet units had been committed to the North Atlantic Treaty command in the event of war, France notified NATO officials last week she had decided to keep the entire Mediterranean fleet under French command.

The sources said privately that decision of the De Gaulle government could prove the clinching argument for denial of the request.

They contended the U.S. atomic energy law specifically provides that to be eligible for sharing such secrets, a nation must be making "substantial contribution to the mutual defense and security" of the free world.

"To withdraw the fleet from the Allied command would scarcely be in line with this provision," said a well placed congressional source who declined to be quoted by name.

There was no comment from the State Department.

France has asked, under the law, for a share of U.S. atomic submarine secrets and for permission to buy an American-made atomic power plant for such a vessel.

President Woodrow Wilson made his noted "The Fourteen Points" speech before the U.S. Congress on Jan. 8, 1918.

He will be featured speaker and will give a public address April 5 on "A Paradise Earth Through God's Kingdom." Appearing daily also will be William H. Wright, newly appointed circuit supervisor. Formula on Price Hike Inequitable, Liquor Chief Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Liquor Board's formula for raising liquor prices which becomes effective April 1 was labeled inequitable Monday night by liquor director Richard Crouch.

Testifying before the Senate Liquor Committee on a bill to give the director the right to fix liquor prices and minimum markup allowed on beer and wine, Crouch said he asked for a flat 10 per cent increase in all liquorprices.

Instead, he said, the board set up a formula calling for larger increases on the lower priced brands and smaller hikes on the higher priced ones.

"I don't feel it is the equitable way to effect the increase," Crouch said.

The increase in liquor prices was asked by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle to bring in an additional 20 million dollars in revenues.

It was journalist Mark Twain who said "It is easier to stay out than get out."

New York Stock Market

Noon Quotations

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market bounced back from Monday's decline in heavy trading early this afternoon. Space age stocks were the pacemakers.

Stocks connected with electronics and missiles were stimulated by President Eisenhower's emphasis in Monday night's speech on missile development.

The more conventional issues also advanced on a broad front in a smart recovery from Monday's sharp loss.

Zenith roared ahead as much as a dozen points then settled back for a net rise of about 8. Gains of more than 3 were posted for Hoffman Electronics and 2 or better for Thiokol, Polaroid and General Tire.

Budd Co. was up about a point. Burroughs gained more than a point.

Higher were an assortment of stocks including Callahan Mining, Avco, American Cable & Radio, and List Industries.

Du Pont jumped 4. U.S. Gypsum over 2. Gains of a point or better were made by U.S. Steel, Jones & Laughlin, American Motors, Chrysler, General Dynamics, Kennecott and Phelps Dodge. Anaconda rose more than 2.

U.S. government bonds were steady.

Labor Neutrality May Go

Berlin Crisis May Spell Another Policy Change

By VICTOR RIESEL

That man with the built-in crises, Nikita Khrushchev, may yet force Dwight D. Eisenhower to change the White House policy of neutrality in labor-industry feuds. To a handful of observers in and about the White House, this appears almost inevitable early this summer.

VICTOR RIESEL

The President, who long ago ordered his staff and the Pentagon to stay out of strike crises, may nonetheless be forced to move into the steel field to prevent a shutdown at the very moment when Khrushchev threatens to shut off Berlin.

In the past few days, it has come as a shock to the four or five men who make policy for Big Steel and the big Steel Workers Union that their own critical timetable is paralleled by the Kremlin's action timetable as steadily as two rails on a track.

Contracts covering the 600,000 men in the critical steel industry expire June 30. Khrushchev has set May 27 as ultimatum time in Berlin.

-:-

ON MAY 21, the big steel negotiating delegates will gather in New York's Hotel Roosevelt for the opening mass talks which will run through the summer—and which many have said will be dramatically disrupted by a two month strike.

Just about that day, exactly six blocks east, big delegations to the United Nations will be talking heatedly about the Berlin cold war—in the ice-cake type building known as the U.N.

In Washington, there will be talk of American mobilization. At the Hotel Roosevelt there will most certainly be talk of another kind of mobilization—of pickets, of AFL-CIO Community Services strike relief kitchens and counseling aid.

There will be industry talk of standing fast against David McDonald's United Steelworkers' demands for a big cash package, for a new type of three month sabbatical vacation in the mills or a shorter work week, for special Saturday and Sunday weekend pay, for a new kind of medical care, for new handling of the cost-of-living hikes and for bigger pensions.

THE UNION will say that it cannot retreat from these demands. You will hear union charges that they are being "cooperized." This will be a reference to a veteran industry negotiator of whom the public has yet heard little. He is Conrad Cooper, sophisticated, hard-bargaining, well-informed, executive vice president of U.S. Steel Corp. He will be the chief spokesman for a small committee speaking for some 11 large steel corporations.

There are informed insiders who are saying that the union will accept a seven to 10 cents an hour—a $3 to $4 a week—cash increase in addition to other benefits.

There are informed insiders who say that the industry will not meet this figure. They report that the industry will come to the bargaining rooms with no counter offer at first—but negotiate penny by penny.

No piggy bank matter, these pennies. Each penny increase per man per hour—or every 40 cents a week—will cost the industry 30 million dollars a year, according to Roger Blough, chairman of the board of U.S. Steel. Mr. McDonald, speaking for the men of the steel mills, retorts that each penny will cost nine million dollars a year. Either way that's a lot of coin.

INDUSTRY SOURCES make no secret of the fact that they will not pay anything like the union's demands. There is no doubt that the union's strike threat is serious. It has ordeded its third and fourth echelon people to prepare for a stoppage.

However, deep in the carpeted corners of both sides' high command there now is some talk of an effort to get together before the Berlin crisis cracks wide open—but settle the contracts without a walkout. But remember they fought it out in a seven week strike during "Korea" in '52.

Harry Truman moved then. Dwight Eisenhower may have to move now—for as steel goes, so goes the nation.

FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER. Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Duncan showed no emotion as she was led back to her jail cell Monday after she heard a Ventura, Calif., jury return a verdict of guilty of first degree murder. Moments later her composure shattered in her cell. She sobbed, "I can't understand how the jury could do this to me. Because I didn't do it. I didn't do it." Today she faces the same jury for its decision on her penalty—death or life in prison. (UPI Telephoto)

Mrs. Duncan Convicted in Murder Case

VENTURA, Calif. (AP)—A jury that reduced Elizabeth Duncan to tears when it convicted her of buying the murder of her daughter-in-law returns today to decide the punishment.

It has two alternatives—death in the gas chamber, or life imprisonment. But Mrs. Duncan still has a plea of innocent by reason of insanity to be settled before any sentence can take effect.

The 54-year-old defendant, smiling and optimistic when the jury filed in to announce its verdict Monday, took the first-degree murder conviction calmly at first. She turned to her 30-year-old attorney son, who sat at the counsel table beside her with his head bowed.

"Don't worry too much, Frank," she said.

It was Frank's pregnant bride, Olga, 30, whose murder she was convicted of plotting.

Then she was handcuffed and led back to her county jail cell. There her composure cracked.

She broke down and cried. She sobbed repeatedly to her son and her attorney, S. Ward Sullivan: "I can't understand how the jury could do that to me, because I didn't do it."

Frank Duncan had nothing to say. He had sat beside his mother through the four-week trial. Testifying for her, he said he could not believe she would harm Olga, even though she had tried to break up their marriage.

3 Galion Vocal Groups Sing in District Contest

GALION — Three vocal groups of Galion High School, 97 voices all together, are hoping to win high ratings at the contest of District 2 of the Ohio Music Educators Association at Bascom Saturday.

Herbert Krichbaum, director of vocal music in the high school, will take the choir of 72 voices, the boys' glee club of 27 members, and the girls' glee club of 24.

This is the first year of the girls' glee club to make an appearance since it was formed only since school opened in the fall. Last year the choir and the boys' glee club received superior ratings.

Each group will sing two numbers, a selected piece and a required selection.

Wins Confidence Vote

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's regime Monday night beat back a new Labor party attempt to bring down the government with a motion to censure its handling of the aftermath of the 1956 Suez invasion.

Amid Laborite jeers, the House of Commons voted 300-230 against the censure motion. A government motion to approve the agreement with the United Arab Republic settling financial claims from the invasion then carried without a formal vote.

Morrow Auto Accident Probed by State Patrol

A Columbus man's car was considerably damaged late Monday when it went out of control on Rt. 61, three miles north of the Delaware County line and traveled several hundred feet in a ditch, knocking down two highway signs.

Patrolmen said they were notified of the Morrow County mishap at 10 p.m. The car had been abandoned in a ditch.

Investigation showed that the southbound vehicle apparently went off the left side of the road and traveled 285 feet before striking the first sign, officers noted.

They said it continued on approximately 270 feet before plowing into the second sign. The car came to rest 75 feet away from the second highway marker.

The accident still is under investigation. According to the report, the auto was registered in the name of George L. Shannon of Columbus.
